It is not an easy task to introduce myself, a growing college.

There are many things I would like to say, to accomplish.

*I will attempt to laud my achievements . . .
Reveal my inadequacies.*

*I will exhibit my administration, those who govern and perpetuate . . .
Present my faculty, each individual in his attempt to develop academic excellence.*

*I will let my stately halls stand in the sunlight . . .
Amid the modern buildings which encompass them . . .
Let my campus model its own unique qualities . . .
Caught in the candid moods of life.*

*I will let my organizations display proudly their achievements . . .
Applaud with those spirited students at my athletic competitions.
Should I curtail my frequently ill-attended affairs?*

*I will show my students with pride . . .
From the frosh who have just embarked . . .
To the seniors who have reached the crossroad.*

Yes, I will laud my achievements.

My time is here; I am ready.

May I introduce myself; I am Elizabethtown College.

Students progress along the road to knowledge in spurts; sometimes they cover great distances with great speed; other times they remain motionless, unable to travel any further. Sometimes they find the road very smooth; other times, it is rough and full of blocks which hinder their progress.

On this four year journey, students wander off to explore new paths; sometimes their exploration results in a change in directions. Students react to their journey in extremes; they go from great happiness to great depression, and from intense interest to intense boredom.

After struggling along winding and tedious paths, the students meet at a large crossroad—the end of their undergraduate years. Feeling that they have reached the “portals of maturity,” they step into a new existence.

This book is a year's record of the students' journey in four stages—from the freshmen who have just embarked to the seniors who have reached the crossroad.

PROFESSOR HENRY M. LIBHART

To be truly educated a person cannot learn merely from books, but he must be cultured and keenly aware of what is happening in society.

Henry M. Libhart, Assistant Professor of English, fully represents that which the Elizabethtown College student should be desirous of emulating.

Professor Libhart's knowledge is far from being confined to his major field of English. His excellent use of vocabulary, knowledge of several languages, and great wealth of general information shall never cease to amaze his students. His art work is well known outside the college community. It is his unusual quick, keen humor which decorates his classes.

Although he claims to be a cynic, his warm willingness to help and his enthusiastic presentations which stimulate learning have endeared him in the hearts of all students.

It is, therefore, proudly and humbly that we dedicate the 1964 CONESTOGAN to Professor Henry M. Libhart.

ADMINISTRATION

The fraternities of teachers and scholars . . . unselfish . . . thoughtful . . . sincere . . . patient . . . give us wise counseling . . . capable guidance . . . complete instruction . . . workable precepts . . . fundamental concepts . . . the older professor . . . wise with the experience of age . . . the younger prof . . . filled with the facts of a modern day . . . they, through their dedication and loyalty . . . give us of themselves.

ELIZABETHTOWN COLLEGE

OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

May 25, 1964

Elizabethtown, Pennsylvania

Dear Students:

When an individual becomes a student of a particular college he literally thrusts himself into a new family. The term, Alma Mater, carries this concept, for it literally means "foster mother."

As in any family situation the activities of any one member or group of members effects the life and welfare of the others. Here in these pages is a record of the activities of our family. Now and in the years to come they will remind us of our life and times as we have lived and worked and played together. May such remembrances bring joy, happiness, and feelings of accomplishment!

And even as these classrooms and these activities and these teachers and these friends are left behind when you move into a society waiting your service, your Alma Mater is still here, deeply moved by your successes and achievements. For as you, a member of the family still, react successfully to a world of challenge, so will your "foster mother" gain in stature.

Thus it is that this Conestogan is an image of Elizabethtown College as it now is, and a great promise of what it can be.

Sincerely,

Roy E. McAuley

President of the College

Dr. Roy E. McAuley—President of the college

BOARD OF TRUSTEES

Members of the Board of Trustees include: (SEATED) Earl Kurtz (Treasurer), D. C. Stambaugh, the Rev. N. S. Sellers (Vice Chairman), Dr. Roy McAuley, Dr. Joseph W. Kettering (Chairman), Dr. H. E. Raffensberger (Secretary), S. S. Wenger, John M. Miller; (STANDING) Jacob L. Miller, John G. Hershey, the Rev. Norman K. Musser, Dr. Frank S. Carper, John F. Sprenkel, Carl G. Herr, Dr. Wayne Keller, Miss Martha Bucher, Mrs. C. M. Papon, Mrs. Margaret Cassel, Cyrus G. Bucher, the Rev. C. H. Royer, Paul M. Grubb, J. Aldus Rinehart, the Rev. H. A. Markey, the Rev. N. L. Bowers, Eli H. Staltzfus, and the Rev. Clyde Weaver.

PRESIDING AT MEETINGS of the policy-setting and governing body of the college and meeting with various standing committees of the body, such as finance, buildings and ground, etc., is the main functional responsibility of the chairman of the board. In addition such tasks as signing legal documents and diplomas are his. Since the board of trustees is looked upon as an important source of public relations for the college, in his position as chairman Dr. Kettering must be sensitive to the public, the constituencies of the Church of the Brethren who elect the board members, and the alumni. He has been on the trustee board since 1936 and chairman of the board since 1954.

The board is comprised of twenty-two members. Twelve of these are nominated for office by the Eastern and Southern districts of the Church of the Brethren. Seven are nominated by the board members themselves and the remaining three by the Alumni Association. The Church districts vote on all nominees, thus legally owning and operating the college but not directly dictating the rule. The board elects the president of the college to promulgate the policies and execute the actual operation of the college. Since the board members are representative of various occupations, they have among themselves a cross section of ideas and knowledge of how a college should be operated.

The board will continue to think in terms of a small college, the numerical figure varying with the conception of a small college, but foreseeably with the figure around 1,200 students. They want to maintain an academically good school although enrolling average students as well as exceptional ones. The challenge will be to have each student work up to his best possible level. Religiously, they hope each student is better grounded, and on graduating will give of his service to the community, church, and civic organizations.

Jacob E. Hershman

THE RESPONSIBILITIES of the Dean of Instruction are numerous and varied. In the first place, he is responsible for the total instructional program. There is a continual need to be sensitive to new things happening and to bring the program up to date. Dean Hershman must be able to detect, give initiative to these new ideas and develop and implement them.

Half of his time is consumed in counseling students, and the work of helping to select and supervise the faculty is another major job. In addition, he himself teaches two courses—Methods of Teaching Social Studies and Principles and Practices of Secondary Education. Serving on the big five Administration Commission and the Administrative Committee and acting as chairman on the Committee of Instruction does not end his line of activities. He also visits alumni chapters and works in high schools for teachers' workshops.

Dr. Hershman continually strives for a program of increasing effectiveness. In his office hangs his motto: "A college is not a second-rate institution because it admits students whose intellectual ability is average. It becomes second-rate only if it fails to challenge these students, as well as their more talented classmates, to work to the optimum level of their respective abilities."

Having followed a career in industry for ten years, he entered the field of education and is now devoted to it. Prior to coming to Elizabethtown in 1961, he was high school principal in the Washington County System, Maryland.

Earl H. Kurtz

AS THE TREASURER OF THE COLLEGE, Mr. Kurtz has several main responsibilities, including the management of all the physical and business affairs. He heads the Financial Aid Committee, which deals with providing loans for Elizabethtown College students. All matters with the government, including the National Defense Student Loan Program, lie in his hands. It is his task to obtain government loans for building construction. But his job is not complete after the loan has been obtained. He further acts as college liaison with the architect during building construction. Through careful tactics, Mr. Kurtz has been able to obtain a large amount of money from the National Defense Loan Program, considering the size of the college. Since most of his work deals with providing more adequate facilities, this will continue to be Mr. Kurtz's goal in the future. He hopes to see a few more buildings on campus in the next five to ten years.

A graduate of Elizabethtown College, Mr. Kurtz was formerly a teacher, and before coming to Elizabethtown in January of 1957, he was the top administrative official at the Brethren Church's publishing house. He is also an ordained minister and enjoys keeping in contact through preaching for the local congregations who help support the college.

James L. Yeingst

MR. JAMES YEINGST works in several areas as director of public relations. His department is responsible for the alumni edition of the Etownian. Fund raising is an important aspect of his responsibilities. Any news of the college in newspapers and other media is provided through his office. A new area is the placement service offered to job-seeking seniors. It is also his responsibility to see that the budget is prepared for the Conestogan. He also tries to coordinate the efforts of the alumni and pull the administrative branches together. In addition to his official duties, Mr. Yeingst teaches a course in journalism.

Elizabethtown is the Alma Mater of Mr. Yeingst, and after his graduation in 1957, he joined the administrative staff. During his college career, he worked as night editor for the Lebanon Daily News.

For the future he has several goals. In the near future a capital gifts fund-raising program will be embarked upon. He wishes to continue to draw the alumni closer to the college. The placement facilities will be enlarged, and academically it is hoped to have a formal program in journalism.

THE DEAN OF STUDENTS. complementing the academic dean, takes care of all non-academic activities, including housing, food, social and cultural activities, athletics, counseling and testing, placement and B.S.C. operations. Besides these activities he serves on the big five Administrative Committee, the Student Financial Aid Committee, the Admission and Registrar Commission, the Athletic Commission and the Testing and Counseling Commission. He works with the Student Union Board, the Senate and the Committee on Men's Affairs, in addition to directing a self-help program for students.

Since coming here in 1959, Mr. Crill has helped implement the construction of the Student Union Building and initiated an improved student government system. Being first an instructor, he is now an associate professor teaching two classes in General Psychology.

In the future the students' dean would like to see the students themselves hold more responsibilities for their own programs and living conditions on campus. He has ideas for enlarging the athletic program to involve more students in intercollegiate and intramural sports. The improvement of the program for the B.S.C. is a main objective of his, too. As the college enlarges and expands, he hopes to see it maintain its basic values and goals.

Edward L. Crill

MAINTAINING A PERSONAL CONTACT with almost five hundred women students is a big job, but Miss Hackman does just this. She takes interest and concern in every girl's academic as well as non-academic life through private conferences. Her achievements are evident in women graduates better prepared to meet their roles in society. Miss Hackman feels that in this rapidly changing world it is important for women to understand their role.

Besides being Dean of Women, Miss Hackman is Assistant Dean of Students and Director of Student Activities. She is responsible for planning the college calendar with various student body members and the administration. Frequently she sits in on meetings of the Admissions Committee and the Special Events Committee.

When Miss Hackman arrived in 1944, there were sixty resident women students at Elizabethtown. Next year there will be 450 resident women students. Miss Hackman feels her goals are well defined—meeting the needs of the women students and interpreting the roles of women in an expanding world.

Vera R. Hackman

D. Paul Greene

SUPPLYING THE COLLEGE with students is the main responsibility of the Director of Admissions. Each year he and his assistant must process personally over one thousand applications. It is not just a matter of choosing the most intelligent students, but choosing the appropriate number according to the department facilities, meeting the needs of the prospective students as far as the college is concerned, and meeting the needs of the community and church. A cross section of students is certainly aimed at. Dean Greene believes the quality of the incoming students is increasing rapidly.

Corresponding to this job of supplying students is the program of mailing. Five thousand catalogues are sent out each year and two hundred pieces of mail are handled each week. All scholarships and grants are handled through this office. Dean Greene and his assistant, Mr. Garland, interview close to one thousand prospective students a year. The two of them travel 25,000 miles a year visiting high schools and attending conferences. They visit three hundred high schools and participate in sixty "College Nights."

Since Dean Greene's arrival here in 1953, he has established the college as a member of the American Colleges Admissions Commission and the College Entrance Examination Board. He instigated the establishment of parish grants and a new scholarship program. He feels his insistence upon a personal interview with each applicant is also an important step.

Russell Eisenbise

CAREFUL RECORDS of each student's courses and credits are necessary for completion of requirements for graduation. In the registrar's office of Professor Eisenbise a student can receive counselling on when would be a good time to take a certain course and what requirements must be met. Professor Eisenbise also has the responsibility of developing and deleting courses. Having come to the Elizabethtown College campus in 1962, he was promoted to acting registrar this year. His teaching responsibilities include Basic Math and Beginning German courses. His committee duties are on the Committee of Admissions and the Committee of Instruction.

In his area there are a few future goals which he hopes to see realized. The shifting of record keeping in the office to IBM data processing would increase efficiency and speed. As the college develops, he hopes to microfilm all records of students from the beginning of their college careers.

MR. YOUNG serves as Administrative Assistant and is closely connected with college promotion and development work. This narrows down to working with people (friends, industry, and alumni) interested in developing and promoting a greater Elizabethtown College in reference to financial support. This work is done through personal contacts and interviews. According to Mr. Young, "My job is to find new friends for the college because it is through friends and supporters that the success or failure of the college depends." He realizes the independent college is being faced with the problem of sustenance and must be able to develop a well-balanced financial picture. The college must have an increased endowment, adequate finances, essential accommodations, an excellent, well-balanced liberal arts curricula and a qualified staff of instructors to insure the students of a par excellence program.

Robert S. Young

MR. WEAVER formerly taught in the business department, but the expansion of the college has necessitated his limiting his duties to those of managing the college bookstore and post office. This entails supervising the fulltime employees as well as eight student assistants. In order to supply students with the required materials he associates closely with the registrar and the department heads. In addition the store, a member of NACS (National Association of College Stores), is filled with other needs and desires of the students.

In the post office 1,000 items of U.S. mail are handled every morning. As the official college representative with the U.S. post office, Mr. Weaver also processes many third class bulk mailings. Added to this are numerous inter-campus communications, monthly mailings of the alumni edition of the Etownian, and quarterly bulletin mailings. The continued effort to improve and expand services to students, faculty, and staff will be the aim of Mr. Weaver.

Wilbur E. Weaver

Clarence G. Enterline

James M. Berkebile

Jerald L. Garland

PROFESSOR ENTERLINE, as the Alumni secretary, assumes the duties of establishing new alumni chapters and seeing that the existing ones are active. Since he acts as the official liaison officer between the college and graduates, he helps in fund campaigns and planning Homecoming and Alumni Days.

Professor Enterline has established his goal of "a good-will service" available in "The Secretary's Angle" column in the alumni edition of the Etowanian. He hopes his other goals will be realized also. They include increased alumni activity, campus seminars for alumni, and self-sufficient chapters. More active and better informed alumni are good publicity facets and needed strength for the college.

DR. BERKEBILE, in addition to being professor of chemistry, has two other important functions. He serves as our Director of Teachers for West Africa Program, helping to recruit, screen and process twenty-five teachers per year to be sent into the secondary schools of Ghana and Nigeria. The funds for this are supplied as a beneficence by the Hershey Chocolate Corporation. Dr. Berkebile will fly to Africa this spring to evaluate the problems of the present thirty-three participants in order to provide a smoother program for the new recruitments. As director of the college's extension program, he acts as liaison person between the college and the administrative office of the Harrisburg Center and provides the faculty for this center.

JERALD L. GARLAND, a 1959 graduate of Elizabethtown College, returned to his Alma Mater last September as Assistant to the Dean of Admissions. Due to the increasing amount of work connected with the Admissions Office, Mr. Garland joined the staff to aid in the task of interviewing, processing applications and visiting high schools.

JASON LINDOWER, newly added to the administrative staff this year, aids Mr. Kurtz with the increased business and finance of the college resulting from the expanding enrollment. His particular duties include purchasing, handling student accounts, reporting, and running the business office. Before he accepted his new position Mr. Lindower was a tax accountant with a CPA firm. He also teaches finance and income tax courses.

Jason Lindower

KENNETH BOWERS, the Director of Publications, virtually directs any printed matter of importance sponsored by the college. This includes the student publications, the Etownian, Conestogan, and the Elm. He edits the alumni edition of the Etownian and assists in the publication of the Alumni Bulletin, the school catalog and numerous small pieces. With the formation of our own radio station, Mr. Bowers took on the added duties of advising the student committee and handling 90% of the news releases. He is part of the total public relations program in the radio and TV areas.

He is mainly concerned with getting the college's name before the public and having the purposes of the college's policies and actions understood. His goal is continually toward an improved image of the college.

GLEN E. IRWIN is administrative assistant in public relations. His responsibilities at Elizabethtown College are in the areas of development and fund raising.

He is an organizer, charter member and past director of the Lancaster Christian School Association. He is also a trustee of the Lancaster School of Bible, general secretary of the Calvary Independent Church Sunday School and director of the weekly radio program, "The Voice of Christian Education."

MISS BRUCKHART, new this year, too, is director of the largest dormitory on campus, Ober Hall, as well as an assistant in student personnel. She is advisor to the hall proctors who are in turn responsible for their respective halls. Her being almost constantly on duty at Ober Hall gives men students an opportunity to consult her for advice and guidance. She feels her duties in her position are to help students develop a well-balanced, well-rounded college life through realization of the importance of living in a residence hall.

MRS. NEFF, in addition to being Head of Residence at Royer Hall, is the assistant to the Dean of Women and teaches Language Arts, a course for elementary education majors. Having come to the campus from the Pottstown School System, where she was a guidance counselor, Mrs. Neff is in her second year at Elizabethtown.

LIBRARIANS

Anna M. Carper

Guiliana Grilk

Jack Slater

CONSTRUCTION IS NOW UNDERWAY to expand the library facilities—allowing more space for books, periodicals, and expanded study rooms. The expansion will provide the students with a greater realm of research as well as pleasurable reading matter. This expansion will place a greater burden on the already heavily worked library staff.

Miss Anne Carper, library director, is dedicated to broaden the scope of the present library facilities. Mr. Jack Slater is catalogue librarian. Newly added to the staff this year, Mrs. Guiliana Grilk is reference librarian.

A new structure, new ideas, new understanding—these are fine new additions to the gradual intellectual development of Elizabethtown College.

LIBRARIANS: Rosalie E. Bowers, Ephraim Meyer, Mary B. Stambaugh.

FACULTY

Dr. Charles S. Aggar (Biology), Ronald Copeland (Business), Richard W. Bomberger (English), and Dr. Nevin W. Fisher (Music) discuss plans for revising the cut system.

WITH EACH NEW YEAR come new ideas, new faces, and new changes to our college campus. This year has been no exception. Each academic department has been constantly working to deepen and widen its scope.

This has been the second year for our growing Music Education program. Many new courses have been added to accommodate the new major in music—including Applied Music, Advanced Harmony, Advanced Sight-Singing and Ear Training and Keyboard Harmony. The Music Department is planning to add seventeen hours of new courses next year.

The Chemistry Department has undergone a modernization program and is providing a new outlook to students through new courses and new faculty. The Business Department has added four new faculty members. The Sociology Department boasted three new courses this year. One of these, Cultural Geography of Africa, is the first course the college has offered in relation to the Teachers for West Africa program.

The college as a whole can progress only as each department strives to offer its students more and better courses.

Dr. Carl Zeigler (Bible and Philosophy) and Dr. Herbert Custer (Physics) discuss some of the year's academic highlights.

A COLLEGE consists not only of ivied buildings, associations and administrative policies, but rather of people. The college can progress only as each person involved strives to improve himself. An impressive number of our professors are studying for graduate degrees, writing books, doing research and in many other ways working to make themselves more learned.

Four professors have taken a leave of absence this year and will be back with us next fall. Miss Zoe Proctor completed her residence requirements for her Ph.D. at the University of Delaware. Mr. Edgar Bitting was working and studying in Philadelphia to meet his Certified Public Accountant requirements. Dr. Robert Byerly and his family spent the year at the University of Marburg in Germany. As advisor to the Brethren Students Abroad program, Dr. Byerly accompanied students from six Brethren colleges to Germany and France. Mr. Lee Byers studied this year at Pennsylvania State University.

Other professors took advantage of the summer months for further study. Professor Irvin Bossler studied at Rutgers University for eight weeks last summer under a National Science program for college mathematics professors. Dr. Rao spent the summer at the University of Texas, working on a research project. Professor David Willoughby attended the Eastman School of Music in New York for a choral and voice program.

As the director of the Teachers for West Africa program, Dr. James Berkebile has travelled to Africa, visiting the homes of teachers in Nigeria and Ghana, and meeting with Ministry of Education officials from both of these countries. The purpose of the trip was to give him a better understanding of the country and to arrange placement for the next group of teachers.

The Doctors Apgar spent last summer travelling in Florida. They cruised up the west coast of Florida in a houseboat. This summer they plan to travel to New England to retrace a trip they took in the 1930's in a Model-A Ford.

Professor Bossler and his family spent Christmas vacation in Hawaii and visiting on the West coast. Dr. Shull and his family took a three-week trip last summer to New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia and Ontario. Dr. Zaccano has been spending his spare time working on a biography of Senator Dirksen. Professor Nevin Fisher was the conference pianist for the national Annual Conference of the Church of the Brethren at Champlain, Urbana, Illinois.

Members of our faculty have been working to deepen their own knowledge and understanding. All these activities make them better professors—more valuable to the college and to their students.

Department heads get together to discuss college expansion; they are (seated) R Bruce Lehr, Langaue, Elmer Hoover, Education; Irvin L Bossler, Mathematics; O. F. Stambaugh, Chemistry, (standing) David I. Lasky, Psychology; Clyde K. Nelson, History; and Owen L. Wright, Physical Education.

HISTORY OF THE COLLEGE

SINCE 1899, when the charter of Elizabethtown College was received from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, steady advancements have been made to extend the physical facilities of the college and broaden the quality of its curriculum. On April 8, 1899, representatives from the Eastern Pennsylvania District of the Church of the Brethren made a formal decision to initiate a college.

The responsibility of combining Christian ideals and accepted principles of higher education in such a manner as to gain the support of the church and the respect of the educators fell on the shoulders of the first board of trustees. A blended mixture of aggressiveness, dignity, mildness, and conservatism characterized this group. The church officially assumed the responsibility for operating the college in January, 1919.

The founders were confronted with the duty of setting up purposes and ideals for the new institution. The original charter stated the following purpose, which the college continues to uphold: "To give such harmonious development to the physical, mental, and moral powers of both sexes as will best fit them for the duties of life and promote their spiritual interests."

The college has advocated through the years that men and women can serve God through any vocation which serves the needs of mankind. A college education is regarded not only as a preparation for life but as life itself, and this life in college continually calls for hard work and firmness of purpose.

The first classes in the history of Elizabethtown College met on November 13, 1900, with six students enrolled. Courses offered were in Bible, history, languages, education, orthography, and music. These courses were categorized into Teaching, Literary, Scientific, and Classical development, each requiring three years of studying for completion.

A view from College Avenue in the middle 1920's pictures Fairview Apartments and College Hill in the distance.

Formal accreditation was the reward of the earnest men who supported this institution from its very beginning, when it was granted in 1921 by the Pennsylvania Department of Public Instruction and in 1948 by the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. Elizabethtown can now boast of its place in the circles of higher education. Holding membership in the Association of American Colleges and the American Council of Education, it has been approved also by the American Association of University Women.

The spirit of progress that has characterized so much of our life today is evident on the campus of Elizabethtown College. With expansion as its byword, the college has constructed six major buildings since 1950. Included among the new additions are three dormitories, all erected since 1957. The number of qualified students seeking admission to the college increases continually and the college is striving to meet these changes.

An aerial view of the campus in the late 1920's was taken when only four major buildings existed.

THE COLLEGE TOMORROW

The initial project of the PATHWAY TO FULFILLMENT program will be an addition to the College Library.

THE MASTER CAMPUS PLAN of the college calls for the immediate construction of a library addition, a classroom building, and a new men's dormitory. The increased enrollment of the college has made it necessary to plan an addition to the dining hall to accommodate the more than 800 resident students.

The first project to be completed will be the addition to the library, which will triple the current facilities. This would provide more extensive study areas, space to house more than 100,000 volumes, more newspaper and periodical space, and more office space. The classroom building will be designed to provide better instructional facilities and faculty offices. Housing facilities for one hundred and forty male students will be provided by a three story dormitory.

Elizabethtown College is expanding to meet the needs of qualified students seeking academic, social, and spiritual growth. The character of the college is reflected in all its endeavors to meet these changing needs.

The classroom building will provide needed facilities for an expanding college

The new men's dormitory will provide housing facilities for one hundred and forty men.

GROWING OUT OF A TEN YEAR PROJECTION AHEAD by the Board of Trustees, the "Pathway to Fulfillment" program is currently in its first stage of development. As a result of the need for expanded physical facilities, the project is designed to raise $1,250,000 over the next three years. Alumni, members of the Church of the Brethren, business and industrial leaders, and other friends of the college will play a prominent part in the enactment of the program. The long range plan calls for the college to expand gradually to an enrollment of approximately 1,200 students.

Perhaps the most striking aspect of the development project will be the physical expansion of the campus facilities. Buildings scheduled to be added during the next ten years include an addition to the Zug Memorial Library, a classroom building, a physical education building, an auditorium and fine arts building, additional residence halls, and a science hall addition. Also planned is the establishment of a general endowment fund, which will give the college a solid financial base with which to underwrite scholarships, faculty salaries, and general operations. The total long range program is expected to cost well over $6,000,000.

The academic program will also be re-evaluated in the years immediately ahead. A revision of the curriculum and re-definition of the current semester system will be among the first items to be considered. The curriculum change would not alter the liberal arts emphasis of the college, but would be designed to give the individual student greater flexibility in planning his program.

Formal launching of the campaign began on April 10, 1964, with a Convocation weekend. The program included an address by former congressman Brooks Hays, who gained his fame for his moderate stand in the Little Rock integration crisis; the alumni citation speaker Sergio Rojas, former Cuban diplomat; and a dinner address by William F. Butler, vice president of the Chase Manhattan Bank, New York.

All plans under consideration are focused on one over-riding objective: to give Elizabethtown College the personnel and facilities needed to offer the best possible program in the finest traditions of American private higher education.

Construction trenches, dirt piles, foundations—this is the landscape around the library.

This picture was taken in late April.

During the summer months, Rider Hall majestically stands in a frame of tall trees.

The beauty of winter on campus is enhanced by the quiet majesty of Alpha Hall and Myer Residence.

Alpha Hall, situated with a commanding view of the campus, is the center of administrative activity.

FIRST IMPRESSIONS of Elizabethtown College are formed by the appearance of its campus—the buildings and landscaping. In many respects, the personality of a college is reflected by its campus, which provides the physical setting for its intellectual, spiritual, and social activities.

Amidst a general setting of quiet, natural beauty, the main buildings are designed in modern colonial architecture. The students of the college live and work on an 86-acre campus, which includes lovely trees, rolling dell, and picturesque Lake Placid.

Alpha Hall, opened to classes in 1901, was the original building on campus. Situated with a commanding view of the campus, it now serves as the administrative center and a dormitory for women.

Zug Memorial Library, completed in 1950, contains approximately 35,000 volumes of reference materials. In addition to study rooms, library offices, and three levels of stacks, it houses the Brethren Historical Room.

Gibble Science Hall contains biology, chemistry, and physics laboratories, classrooms, faculty offices, and the Brinser Lecture Room. Rider Hall is located near the center of campus. Primarily a classroom building, it contains a chapel and living facilities for men. North and South Halls contain classrooms and faculty offices, respectively. The Business Education Building, a small white structure located to the rear of Alpha, houses classroom facilities.

The A. C. Baugher Student Center has indeed become the pride of the students of the college. Built around the original Alumni Auditorium-Gymnasium, this modern structure, which was completed in the fall of 1962, houses the college post office, a snack bar, bowling alleys, swimming pool, publications office, radio station, lounges, and conference rooms of various sizes. It has become the center of student extra-curricular activities.

The college infirmary has been renovated to provide separate campus medical facilities for both men and women. West Hall, which now houses the Music Department, contains offices, classrooms and practice facilities.

Three new dormitories have been completed since 1957. Ober Hall, the largest building on campus, provides living facilities for two hundred and thirty men. Myer Hall accommodates one hundred and thirty women and contains the dining hall. Royer Hall, the newest dormitory, houses one hundred and thirty women.

Maple, the Birches, Sigma, and Orchard Halls, small residences located on or adjacent to the campus, were established as honor houses for women students. Witmer and the White House are two small residences for men.

Thus at Elizabethtown one will find a building for everyone's needs, whether one desires to catch mice, dissect mice, or act like them.

Framed by the archway of the main entrance, Myer Hall welcomes students and visitors to the campus.

CANDID MOODS OF CAMPUS LIFE

DORMITORY LIFE

Lead your ace.

Sleeping is much easier to do than studying.

So where did you tell the girl from Gettysburg to go?

How long can you go?

A popular pastime is the squunch.

That's what we like to see—a nice clean room.

Co-eds take time out between chapters to relax.

Oh-oh, listen to this!

DORM LIFE is as much of a student's experience as his academic and social activities. Most college students become a part of the dormitory they live in, each having something to contribute towards it as he progresses in his educational pursuits.

Dorm life provides the students with an opportunity to meet new friends and make lasting friendships, to live as a "family" among fellow students, to interact socially as a comparable group and to learn—not only from books, but also from others. Living in a dorm also helps a student to adjust to being away from home so he can become more self-disciplined and responsible to himself and others.

Throughout an academic year dorm members have plenty of opportunities to show to themselves that they are a large "family" unit. Various intramural sports, social activities, and dorm projects all require teamwork, cooperation and responsibilities from each and every student, and through these means, a better mutual experience is had by all.

Indeed, social and academic functions, cooperation, self-discipline, responsibility to oneself and others and compatibility are all a part of dorm life. With these constituents a student may find that dorm life is a valuable experience that will never be forgotten.

Deep concentration is the password during study time.

A soft leather chair and a place to prop two feet are all you need for the comforts of studying

COMMUTER LIFE

Ever try to find a parking space when you are late for class?

The commuters' smoking lounge is nice on sunny days, but what about those rainy days.

"Commuting isn't so bad!"

"No? Well, what are the advantages?"

"It's costing me less to get a college education by living at home, and I can still be a vital cog in family affairs."

"You're not missing dorm life. . . ?"

"But that's about all! I still have a Mom to iron my shirts and I can raid the refrigerator just like always."

"Have you met many kids here?"

"Sure, the day students' lounge and the game room are occupied by other commuters all day, and it's easy enough to meet resident students in the Jay's Nest."

"Jay's Nest—but you've had a chance to sample every sandwich they make."

"Sure have. And home cooking to look forward to every night. Beats Myer Dining Hall, I understand."

"Score one. But isn't it torture to get up so early in the morning?"

"Yeah. The old car rebels sometimes, and I cut my share of 7:40's. But I generally make it here on the right day, cloudbursts or no, complete with the wrong books and the eternal parking problems."

"You don't seem to miss much."

"We aren't as ravenous for mail as the residence are. We can't boast a perfect attendance record for campus activities because of the mileage and time involved, but we do make the Dean's List at times."

"Planning to commute next year?"

"Sure, my car is my second home."

Commuters catch up on the latest gossip in the lounge.

What would the commuters do without the B.S.C.?

Studying? No, just relaxing in the commuter's lounge.

Complete concentration is conducive to good grades.

A favorite rendezvous of commuters is the Jay's Nest.

There's nothing like a rigorous study schedule in the Jay's Nest

ACADEMIC

Personal explanation by each faculty member can be beneficial to the student.

ELIZABETHTOWN, a church associated college, has an academic program oriented toward religious ideals. Its liberal arts program gives the student a well rounded background. As a student, one does research in various fields supplementing his major. The college has many majors from which one can choose. Its courses lead to three degrees: Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Science and Bachelor of Science in Education.

Elizabethtown's academic life is affected by its size. Being a small college, its students and professors are in close contact, and each student receives much individual attention. The classroom experiences enrich the student's knowledge by supplementing his texts. The library and research labs offer opportunity for the student to seek further knowledge.

Elizabethtown's new Nuclear Research project, which will soon be under way, will offer further opportunity for the students in science fields. As Pennsylvania is noted for educating good teachers, student teaching is a most important part of the Education program. During these eight weeks the student gains much experience which later helps him to better adjust to his profession.

Elizabethtown has high standards and a well rounded academic program. It offers various fields of study and gives many opportunities for the student to satisfy his search for knowledge.

As one's college career progresses, he becomes accustomed to long hours of lecture.

Individual research is the mainstay of many senior chemistry majors.

RESEARCH

The library—a place where students can study without interruptions.

Students pause to chat for a moment among the many stacks of books.

Students find the library an excellent place to find research material.

BEING THE MOST IMPORTANT building on campus, the library is the place where students rush to take out fourteen books the night before a term paper is due.

Many students spend a great amount of time in their favorite place in the library—a place that has a special atmosphere that almost forces one to read. Some find that they can study only in this atmosphere, and therefore the library develops its “regulars.” Some students spend most of their time in the library; others try to spend as little time there as possible. However, none could deny that the library, used or unused, is the most important building on campus.

AWARDS

Dan Reitmeyer receives an award for scoring over 1,000 points by his junior year. Coaches Roscher and Smith are giving the award.

David Ferrell presents Nancy Ziegler with an Activities "E" award for outstanding achievement

AWARDS ARE a symbol of achievement, loyalty, and service earned by students who have given time and talent in behalf of their college and fellow students.

The Activities E Award is earned by exacting participation in the various extramural programs of the college. Created in 1953, the Activities E is awarded to those members of the choir, drama group, forensics group, Political Science Club, publications staff, and religious organizations who, in the opinion of the faculty advisors, have successfully fulfilled the requirements of service and tenure.

The Varsity E Award is earned by those participants in the various intercollegiate sports who have merited recognition for their talents, sportsmanship, and loyalty to their team, coach, and college.

AFTER STUDIES

The piano in the main lounge of B.S.C. provides a popular meeting place.

Many welcome a refreshing dip in the pool to relieve the tensions of studying.

BUT I DON'T FEEL LIKE STUDYING! This is a remark made by students all too often. Just what does a student do after he studies? On weekends there are such events as movies, dances or hootenannies. There are also special events and weekends including Homecoming, Sadie Hawkins, Winter Weekend, May Day and, this year, Leap Year Weekend. Events such as concerts, operas and plays are given occasionally.

School spirit was heightened this year by well planned pep rallies. They encouraged school support by spiriting our teams to victory.

Freshmen are initiated to college life by an orientation program. On Frosh Night the freshmen perform their frolics to entertain the student body. On field day they participate in elementary games planned by the orientation committee. Dinks and signs are the Frosh symbols which help to acquaint him with other students.

A new and more liberal social life emerged with the completion of the Baugher Student Center. Here students participate in activities such as bowling and swimming. Many gatherings take place in the building's television room, lounges and game room. However, the Jay's Nest is the hub of activity. Students gather here night after night for their late evening snacks and chats.

Dormitory life also adds to the social realm. Living in a dorm, students make many friendships and participate in group affairs, such as intramural sports, dorm parties, teas and meetings.

This is the planned side of social life; however, the spontaneous whims can also be important. Whether it be an idea to visit the girl's dorm at 2:00 a.m., borrow a Christmas tree, remove the roof from the Alpha water fountain or spend a Friday night in Hershey, it is instrumental to the relief of tensions and study fatigue.

Freshmen cheer for the soccer team on the eve of a big game.

What frosh won't do for the upperclassmen.

Joe Eshleman has it made in the shade.

Here is an unique team game.

Isn't freshman week fun, ask any Frosh

Playing silly games is usual for the mental capacity of frosh

SOCIAL LIFE

The Kinsmen whoop it up in the commuters lounge in the B.S.C. on a Saturday afternoon.

Joe and the Juniors provided the entertainment for an exciting weekend at Elizabethtown College.

FRIDAY NIGHT MOVIES and Saturday night record-hops are often part of the weekly social activities planned for the college crowd.

The Alumni Auditorium becomes the campus theatre for some of the popular movie attractions on Friday nights. Some of the year's special features were High Society starring Bing Crosby and Grace Kelly, North to Alaska, a comedy about the gold rush in Alaska, starring John Wayne and Fabian. Two Broadway hits made into movies were also shown this year—The King and I and Flower Drum Song.

Many Saturday nights see couples dancing it up in the gym. The record-hops, D.J.'d by some of the swinging Elizabethtown fellows, keep the students up to date on the various dances. Couples can be seen doing the twist, the frug, the monkey or the plain slow dance to the up-to-date music of the record player. Special record-hops may feature various combos or small bands. Joe and the Juniors, The Royal Lancers and The Xaviers were only some of the combos here this year. A Hootenanny, featuring the Heartland Singers from Millersville, was an added attraction in November. In this way the social whirl on campus does not droop.

Rock 'n roll music can always be heard from the Royal Lancers during a weekend record hop.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES on campus enliven school spirit and foster cooperation among students. It is important for the student to have recreation to relieve the tension which studying places on him. The hard work and ideas of the Senate Social Committee and the Special Events Committee combine to plan and work out the campus social events. Sadie Hawkins Weekend, Winter Weekend, a Leap Year dance and Roaring Twenties Weekend are only some of the social activities planned to liven up the weekends on campus after a hard week of studying.

"Mistletoe Madness" was the theme of this year's Christmas dance. From the Swedish kissing ring hanging in the center of the gym to the music of the Merry Macs, the dance was quite a success and did a lot to liven up the Christmas spirit on campus. Santa Claus was even there to take down Christmas wishes.

E-town's long-haired import from England, The Bottles, appeared during a talent show.

The Mello Macs provided enchanting entertainment for the Christmas dance held in the B.S.C.

INTRAMURAL SPORTS

Action as usual on the intramural football field.

Here the commuters play the off-campus boys.

THE INTRAMURAL SPORTS PROGRAM is designed to provide students, both men and women, with academic relaxation and physical exercise. Participating students find that the time allotted for this program gives them an increase in general skills and a promotion of health-giving qualities that are but a part of the total contribution to students.

The program is restricted to those who are not skillful enough to participate in varsity intercollegiate athletics and it further aids in rounding out the student's education. Here, as in the varsity sports, sportsmanship, team spirit, cooperation, desire to win and more developed personal attitudes toward athletic activities are learned as a means of teaching students the importance of intramural sports.

The main sports which constitute this program are flag football, basketball, bowling and softball, each involving different skills and coordinations that train the student's mind to function with the body while engaging in any particular sport. Each of the eleven men's and nine women's teams competes for the highest point standing at the end of the year.

During a heated intramural basketball game, it seems like an even jump.

This could be a home run for A-1.

Under the boards teams A-2 and B-2 appear to be well matched.

Spring season means more action on the intramural softball field.

The early afternoon hours were highlighted by a women's field hockey game with Lock Haven.

One of the highlights of the day was the soccer game with St. Joseph.

HOMECOMING

Pull! This is the cry of the many onlookers during the traditional tug-of-war activities in the morning.

AMID THE CHEERS of the alumni, parents and friends, the annual freshman-sophomore battle once again took place on the shores of Lake Placid.

As the competition began, the upperclassmen, cheered on by the sophomore "Pirates," easily won the pie-eating contest. However, freshman determination, urged on by the "Little Girls," proved too much for the sophomores; and the frosh were victorious in the watermelon race and the big event—the traditional Tug of War. The freshmen, weary but elated, then took advantage of their newly gained privilege of doffing their dinks.

The Friday night Homecoming Dance, "Three Coins in the Fountain," which was held again this year at the Scottish Rites Cathedral in Harrisburg, featured the delightful music of the Al Morrison Orchestra. Our gracious 1963 Homecoming Queen, Esther Strehle, and her lovely court consisting of Janice Cramer, Susan Wade, Louise Brown, Suzanne Deitrich, Louise Wenger, Janice Foote, Carol Mainwaring and Sue Albright, presided over this undeniably successful dance.

The Saturday athletic activities, which were an important part of our Homecoming events, included a soccer game, a hockey game and a cross country Triangular Meet. Our Jaygals captured a 4-3 win over the Lock Haven girls' hockey team, and our soccer team was victorious over their St. Joseph opponents 3-1. However, the cross country boys were outrun by Dickinson and Lebanon Valley with scores of 26-33 and 27-32 respectively.

"Everybody Loves Opal," which was presented at the Elizabethtown Area High School on Saturday evening, provided a comical finale for our 1963 Homecoming festivities.

MAY DAY, 1963

Linda Eshleman

Queen Linda Eshleman majestically reigns over the court. Members of the court are Sondra Eisenbise, Lynne Benham, Diana Miller, Janice Hall, Donna Ransom, Mary Zug, Esther Strehle, Judith Hart, and Susan Evoy.

ACCOMPANIED BY THE LILTING MUSIC from "Carousel," the 1963 Queen of the May, Linda Eshleman, and her captivating court consisting of Susan Evoy, Sondra Eisenbise, Judith Hart, Lynne Benham, Diana Miller, Esther Strehle, Janice Hall, Mary Zug and Maid-of-Honor Donna Ransom, processed across the dell to the coronation platform.

Crowned by last year's queen, Brenda Craddock, Queen Linda then received from the four class presidents her traditional gifts—a footstool, a garland, a scepter and a globe.

The post-coronation entertainment for the royal court, which was centered around the theme of "Carousel," featured a circus barker, comical clowns, Russian dancers, lively gypsies, a cape twirler and dancing marionettes. Freshman co-eds, dressed as little girls, concluded the program with a May Pole Dance.

The queen and her attendants reigned over the many events of the day—a queen's tea and a baseball game with Lebanon Valley. One of the major attractions was a Synchronized Swimming Pageant, under the direction of Luise Kempel. The recently formed group of swimmers executed a superb water show to the theme of "Around the World," complete with costumes and music to represent various countries.

The athletic events of the day included a baseball game and a men's tennis match. The Blue Jay baseball team suffered a 9-5 defeat at the hands of Lebanon Valley. In tennis the courtmen took an impressive 8-1 victory over Ursinus.

Other activities included an art exhibit and a piano recital. The festivities of the day were climaxed with an excellent performance of the May Day comic production, "Spring Dance."

To the music "Carousel" the freshmen girls dance around the May Pole.

Mildred Enterline, Dr. Carl Shull, and Miss Elinor Eastlack of the Lyceum Committee discuss cultural plans for the future.

THE LYCEUM COMMITTEE and the Cultural Committee work together to keep Elizabethtown College students enlightened and acquainted with the finer arts of the day. Dr. Carl Shull heads the Lyceum Committee, which consists of administration, faculty and students. The Cultural Committee, a branch of the Student Center Board, is made up of students headed by James Kipp and Lillian Harris. Together, these two committees work to plan the school year's cultural events.

The first event of the 1963-64 school year was the performance of the comic opera, The Barber of Seville, presented by the Turnau Opera Players. Open to the community, the opera was performed on October 5 in the Elizabethtown Area High School. Other community performances for the year included the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra in March, and Lubeshutz and Nemenoff, a duo-piano team, in April.

On November 7 the Baltimore Woodwind Quintet appeared on campus. Dr. Ben Marais, a lecturer on Religion and Africa, appeared in February. Eugene Jemison, a folksinger and artist, and Dr. Rushton Coulborn, a lecturer on historical anthropology, were on campus in April.

The Baltimore Symphony under the baton of Peter Adler performed at the Elizabethtown Area High School in March.

"We must remember, the strong must learn to be lonely."

"You are always ridiculing authority."

"AN ENEMY OF THE PEOPLE was a welcome change in campus productions." The theatre-in-the-round drama, written by Henrich Ibsen, centers around a man and his fight to stand by the courage of his convictions. This was the second presentation of the year for Sock and Buskin.

Members of the religious traveling play, Eyes on the Cross, rehearse preceding one of their many performances

"What you need is big bosoms and long eyelashes."

"Hurry Sal. She ain't breathin'."

"And the string will pull the plug and she will have an accident."

"Go ahead, Sal—kill me."

"Oh, Gloria, won't you meet me in our hour of truth . . ."

"Quick! Take her back out on the highway and dump her."

EVERYBODY LOVES OPAL was the feature presentation during Homecoming Day. Written by John Patrick, the comedy was presented by Sock and Buskin to a capacity audience.

The hilarious farce centers around a kind, lovable, elderly lady who opens her house to anyone, including three gangsters. Featured stars of the Dave Ferrell produced play were Margie Hollinger, Nancy Johnson, Neil Cunningham, and Jim Emery.

SPIRITUAL LIFE

ELIZABETHTOWN CHURCH OF THE BRETHREN

BEING SITUATED close to the campus of Elizabethtown College, the Church of the Brethren is in a position to provide many services to college students. Most students soon discover that weekly Chapel service are held in the Sanctuary of the Church. They find, too, that a college Sunday School class meets here Sunday mornings. In addition, there are many special programs that use the facilities of the Church.

These are the obvious contributions of the Church of the Brethren. Behind these there is a deeper, less obvious service—less obvious, but not less felt. This is the psychological and spiritual atmosphere provided by the local Brethren Church to many students—a Church away from home. In this way the Church of the Brethren becomes an integral part of the college life of many of the students of Elizabethtown College.

Dr. Nevin Zuck and Jim Kipp discuss the relationship between the college and church.

ELIZABETHTOWN, a church associated college, has an academic program oriented toward religious ideals. Its liberal arts program gives the student a well rounded background. As a student, one does research in various fields supplementing his major. The college has many majors from which one can choose. Its courses lead to three degrees: Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Science and Bachelor of Science in Education.

Elizabethtown's academic life is affected by its size. Being a small college, its students and professors are in close contact, and each student receives much individual attention. The classroom experiences enrich the student's knowledge by supplementing his texts. The library and research labs offer opportunity for the student to seek further knowledge.

Elizabethtown's new Nuclear Research project, which will soon be under way, will offer further opportunity for the students in science fields. As Pennsylvania is noted for educating good teachers, student teaching is a most important part of the Education program. During these eight weeks the student gains much experience which later helps him to better adjust to his profession.

Elizabethtown has high standards and a well rounded academic program. It offers various fields of study and gives many opportunities for the student to satisfy his search for knowledge.

A group of students are on their way from the weekly chapel service.

INAKI ABOITIZ

GEORGE APONDO

JONATHAN OKECHUKU MBONU

INAKI ABOITIZ is a newcomer to the Elizabethtown College campus this year. In spite of the fact that he was born in the Philippines and studies in the United States, Inaki makes his home in Montevideo, Uruguay. While studying here at Elizabethtown, Liberal Arts has been Inaki's major. He hopes to write some time in the future. When Inaki was asked what his impression of Elizabethtown College was so far, he made the following comment: "Before I came here, I was in Penn State and the University of Pennsylvania, so perhaps Johnson's comment about a gentleman who had been unhappy in marriage, but who married immediately after his first wife died, from Boswell's Life of Samuel Johnson, sums up my feelings about E-town, 'it was the triumph of hope over experience.'"

GEORGE APONDO, now a senior at Elizabethtown, is from Kenya, East Africa. With a major in medical science, George has had some experience in this field through work at the State Crippled Children's Hospital in Elizabethtown. After completing his education, George plans to go back to his country and practice medicine. Soccer and reading are only two of the interests which George has. As an active Senator during his senior year, George is on the Election Committee, the Foreign Exchange Committee and the Parking Committee. George feels that the sincere friendliness of the students, faculty and administration is what makes Elizabethtown so nice.

JONATHAN OKECHUKU MBONU came to Elizabethtown College in October, 1962, from his home in Nigeria, Africa. Jonathan chose Elizabethtown because it is a small Christian institution. He said he thought a small college would be much better than a large university. A history and political science major, Jonathan is in his sophomore year. After four years at Elizabethtown and further graduate study, Jonathan wants to go to his home country and after several years of government work he hopes to become a politician. Besides being a sports enthusiast, Jonathan is also a member of the Political Science Club. The main thing that has impressed Jonathan is the beauty of the campus.

THEODORE CHUNG-MAAN LO

ELIZABETHTOWN COLLEGE has several students studying outside of the United States. This year these students have chosen to spend a year studying at colleges or universities in France, Germany, Japan, England or Mexico. Each year several students participate in a program similar to this. During the 1963-64 school year, four Elizabethtown students studied in Germany—three of these at Marburg University. The University is associated with the Brethren Colleges Abroad program.

University life at Marburg is quite different from that at Elizabethtown College. University study takes from six to eight years. There are no assigned text books. Classes are of three different types—lectures, seminars and exercises. The lectures are very big, with as many as eight hundred students. In these a student comes, listens and leaves. Seminars range from fifty to two hundred students. Term papers are required of the student. A state given test, taken when the student feels he is ready, determines passing or failing. A student has to write a thesis in his major field and he is tested with oral and essay type questions. It can be seen that the atmosphere of German university life is very different from that of a small American college.

THEODORE CHUNG-MAAN LO, from Hong Kong, B.C.C., is a sophomore this year. Majoring in medical sciences, Ted plans to go to medical school after graduation from Elizabethtown. Ted sings in the College Concert Choir and also shows an interest in all types of music. The friendliness of the students and faculty still impresses Ted. Being asked to comment on the food in the cafeteria, he replied, "I had never eaten Chow-Mein or Chop-Suey before."

KYOKO UTSUMI, from Tokyo, Japan, first heard of Elizabethtown College through her sponsor, a graduate from the college who is presently in Japan. She was especially interested in the school because it is a small, Christian college in the East. A freshman liberal arts major, Kyoko is not quite sure what her professional aspirations are but she feels she would like to attend graduate school after college. Classical music, oil painting and wood carving are only several of Kyoko's interests. Asked how she feels about Elizabethtown College so far, Kyoko said she thought the people were very friendly and helpful and that the relationship between students and faculty is a great asset to the college.

COMMENCEMENT

Seniors take that last step of their college career.

EVERY YEAR, three times each year, Elizabethtown College graduates part of her student body, much as a mother bids farewell to her child, for these students are her children. No matter where they go, no matter how far from Elizabethtown they venture, they carry with them a part of her.

They reflect her influence and guidance. She has given them, as a mother her child, standards to live by, ideals to aspire to. She has nurtured their intellectual growth and development; has seen them mature from awkward, self-conscious freshmen, to poised, confident seniors. She has given them her best, hoping they will make the best use of their education.

With the robe, the hood, the processional, the music, the diploma, and the address the student becomes an alumnus.

Mrs. Wallace A. Baldwin presents Miss Anna Carper with a $2,000 check for the purchase of library books. Miss Ethel Wenger is chairman.

THE WOMEN'S AUXILIARY, a group of over 1000 alumnae and friends of the college, provides services to the college not covered by the regular budget.

The most recent project of the Auxiliary has been contributing $2000 to the Zug Memorial Library. They sponsor a bazaar at Homecoming and provide for the Punch Hour on May Day.

The 1963 Alumni Association president, Edgar T. Bitting turns the gavel over to the new president, Hiram Frysinger.

"WELCOME . . . WE'RE GLAD YOU'RE ONE OF US! You are now a member of a distinguished group. You are now a member of the Alumni Association of Elizabethtown College." This is the statement of welcome given to each graduate.

The Elizabethtown College Alumni Association is organized to provide its members with an opportunity to enjoy a continuing relationship with the College and to have a voice in its affairs.

There are approximately 5,000 members in the Association, which is growing rapidly each year. In terms of organization, the Association is governed by the Alumni Council, which consists of three executive officers, ten council members, and three members elected by the Association to represent alumni on the College Board of Trustees.

Geographically, there are eighteen Alumni Chapters located in Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Maryland, Massachusetts, Delaware, and Washington, D. C. New chapters are being considered in other areas where the cluster of alumni warrants formation of a local organization.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

Student Senate

Robert Guthrie—Vice President

Bonnie Guinter—Secretary

Jack Neibert—Treasurer

Members of the Student Senate gather after a bi-monthly meeting; they are (SEATED) Joe Eshleman, Bonnie Guinter, Bob Guthrie, Jack Neibert; (STANDING) Dennis Heartenstine, Jim Oberholtzer, Mary Jo McConnel, Carolyn Moyer, P. Tim Simpser, Warren White, and Gerry Greiner.

THE STUDENT SENATE is the coordinating body of the Student Association of Elizabethtown College. It is composed of four officers and nine senators elected by the student body. As stated in the Preamble of the Elizabethtown College Constitution, the student government is responsible "to represent, lead, and unify the student body, to decide and act upon all issues involving the students' interests, and to cooperate with the faculty and administration of this college."

Working under the direction of the Student Senate are all college clubs and the Baugher Student Center Board. The Senate standing committees in the academic, athletic, cultural, and social areas are headed by the senators. Under the leadership of Joseph Eshleman, the 1963-64 Student Senate has organized Freshmen Week, Homecoming, and May Day activities; has provided for social and cultural programs such as sponsoring speakers of African Affairs, the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra, the Duo Piano Team; has approved club constitutions; has officiated over the entire election process; and has prepared an annual budget covering its activities. The Senate has also been concerned with all disciplinary problems arising in the student body and has cooperated with the administration and faculty in the solution of such problems through the Campus Council.

Joseph Eshleman—President of the Student Senate

Committee of Women's Affairs

Members of the Committee of Women's Affairs are (SEATED) Carolyn Moyer, Linda Young, Jane Idell; (STANDING) Janice Cramer, Linda Hirst, Nancy Wenger, Mary Ann Poljanec, and Virginia Heisey.

THE COMMITTEE OF WOMEN'S AFFAIRS is composed of eight members elected by the women students of Elizabethtown College; these members represent both residence and commuting women. The chairman is chosen by the committee from its own members. The jurisdiction of this committee is delegated by the Student Senate and the committee is responsible for the performance of duties concerning women.

Under the leadership of Linda Young, the 1963-64 Committee of Women's Affairs has initiated a Dormitory Council consisting of the dormitory presidents and other girls elected as members; has helped with the Freshmen Week activities; has provided a commuter women's lounge; and has sponsored the Big and Little Sister Tea, the UNICEF drive, and the All-College Women's Christmas Party.

Committee of Men's Affairs

The Committee of Men's Affairs is composed of (SEATED) Dave Myers, Tom Speakman, Jeff Bensing; (STANDING) Jim Balmer, and Bob Neuman.

THE COMMITTEE OF MEN'S AFFAIRS deals with problems encountered by the students as a result of college life, both dormitory and commuter. Under the jurisdiction of the Student Senate, the committee is responsible for the performance of duties concerning men.

This year the Committee of Men's Affairs is headed by David Myers. The committee's nine members acts as a liaison between the students, the Senate, and the administration. Dedicated to the betterment of student life, the committee has initiated many new programs as well as carrying out of present programs.

Student Center Board

DESIGNED AS THE CAMPUS CENTER for services, recreation, and social-cultural programs, the Baugher Student Center is the focal point for many campus activities. It has indeed become the pride of the student body.

The Student Union Board is responsible for all the activities that center around this building. The various committees (Cultural, Host, House, Publicity, Recreation, Social, and Special Events) strive toward a well rounded social-cultural program for the students of the college.

Under the leadership of co-chairmen Robert Wittlinger and Gilbert Rinchart, the board has initiated many programs on campus; other traditional services have been supervised and administered. The board is pledged to the task of improving the social, intellectual, and cultural profile of the Elizabethtown campus by providing new activities while maintaining high standards of organization for those programs already in operation.

The members of the Board's executive committee are (SEATED) Sharon Sullivan, Bob Wittlinger; (STANDING) Gil Rinchart, and Bob Guthrie.

The Student Center Board gathers for a policy formation meeting; they are (SEATED) Eileen Taylor, Barbara Ruth, Lill Harris, Marilyn Young, Virginia Rudy Joyce Potchoiba; (STANDING) Ken Kral, Jim Kipp, Jim Balmer, Douglas Shaw, Glen Yarnell, and Stan Delp.

PUBLICATIONS

Elm

THE ELIZABETHTOWN LITERARY MAGAZINE, otherwise known as the ELM, is a product of the creative writing abilities of both students and faculty. In existence for the third year, the magazine is published and edited by the student body and distributed to all students and college personnel.

With the help of Prof. Henry M. Libhart, faculty advisor, and Mr. Kenneth Bowers, publications advisor, the literary staff, headed this year by Gregory Bachman, criticized the prose and poetry which were submitted for publication and selected the best contributions to be printed. The ELM, whose editor was Anne Makowiak, made a double appearance this year for the first time. As the college grew in size and the students grew in number, the amount of creative work grew, thus enabling the staff to publish two issues of the magazine for the 1963-64 school year.

Sonja Bankert, Professor Libhart, Anne Makowiak, and Gregory Bachman discuss the finished product of their efforts.

Members of the ELM staff read the first copy just off the press; they are (SEATED) Brenda Butz, Donna Ward, Cheryl Falkenberg; (STANDING) Mariann Shauli, Margaret Weiss, and Petra Mulkeen.

Rudder

THE STUDENT HANDBOOK, the RUDDER, is the annual guide for all college students to the policies and proceedings of Elizabethtown College. Filled with information on campus life, the handbook contains the school constitution, by-laws for both men and women, the calendar of events, a club directory and general college regulations.

It is edited each year by the Student Senate and distributed to the student body at the beginning of the school year. Upperclassmen as well as freshmen are expected to become familiar with this handbook and its contents.

The staff of this year's RUDDER: Anne Keuhnelian, James Oberholtzer, Jay Lehman, Thomas Bradley, and Robert Kerr, review innovations in the new handbook.

Etownian

Edward Worden—Editor-in-chief

Betty Derencin—Assistant editor

THE PRIMARY PURPOSE of the ETOWNIAN is to inform the student body while simultaneously serving as an instrument of student thought. While it is impossible to be a strictly "hard" newspaper, this semi-monthly gives news of the clubs, athletic teams, academic changes, and visiting speakers and cultural programs.

This year the ETOWNIAN has tried to become a true reflection of student opinion. It has solicited students' and professors' comments on controversial topics. Being a campus-only newspaper (an alumni edition is prepared by the Publications Office), the ETOWNIAN tries to adhere to journalism and not public relations.

Letters containing student comments—pro and con—have not only been accepted, but they have been requested. The opinions of the editorial board of the ETOWNIAN are printed with the knowledge that these are only opinions.

With a staff of a photographer, an assistant editor, a sports editor, twenty-five student reporters, and an editor-in-chief, the ETOWNIAN hopes to grow and improve at a rate commensurate with the growth and improvement of the College itself.

Conestogan

The layout staff of the CONESTOGAN cut and paste diligently to meet the printer's deadlines.

Ellen Hilkemeier, Rich Wright, Jim Schlichter, Ted Lo, and Lill Harris examine literary material for the yearbook.

CAPTURING THE CHERISHED MOMENTS you wish to preserve forever is one of the main tasks of the CONESTOGAN. It is a pictorial and literary essay of the year's events. The theme is original, a realistic view of Elizabethtown College. A mammoth goal had been to capture true college atmosphere.

As the bustle of college life began in the fall, the creation of a new CONESTOGAN evolved. The thoughtful planning stage in September developed into October's harried picture taking schedule. Copy was assigned and handed in by January. As the April deadline grew closer, tension mounted until the book was finally put to bed.

Captions, copy writing, pictures and last minute details occupied the interest and time of many students before the final copy was delivered to the printer. Over one thousand copies of the finished product, representing hours of cooperative work, were ready for distribution to the college faculty and students in May.

With the capable assistance of Mrs. Esther Swick and Mr. Kenneth Bowers as advisors, the CONESTOGAN staff, headed by editor Ed Holle, has worked to produce a yearbook presenting Elizabethtown College.

WWEC

Mark Miller—Station Manager

COMPLETING ITS FIRST FULL YEAR of operation, WWEC has expanded its programming to include an hour of folk music on its Hootenanny Show and another hour of jazz. Two special weekly shows were also added to the schedule. They were Man and Molecules and Radio Moscow, the first being in the scientific vein and the second a prepared tape on the interpretation of some Russian propaganda emanating from Radio Moscow. Nightly for five days a week the radio announcer read Inside Books, a prepared summary of new books that had recently come onto the market.

WWEC operated six hours a day—6 p.m. till 12 midnight—from Sunday to Friday and 3 p.m. to 12 midnight on Saturdays. National, area, and campus news was offered daily. The station concentrated on its objectives to educate, entertain, and inform by presenting the highest caliber of programming.

Mark Miller turns over the radio station to members of the news staff.

Members of the WWEC executive committee discuss future plans; they are Jim Steger, Greg Lacov, Karl Boeringer, Mr. Bowers, Mark Miller, John Eshleman, and Dave Herbster.

IN COLLABORATION WITH WHRY, the Elizabethtown broadcasting station, the college conveys important campus news and events to the public. A well informed community is instrumental for good public relations.

Two news and general information programs are presented on a regular basis throughout the year. Each Monday some prominent college personality is interviewed. Musical presentations by the college choir and the band are heard at various times. A series of programs was presented in relation with the "Pathway to Fulfillment."

Television classroom meetings via WGAL-TV in Lancaster are providing college instruction for many students who are unable to attend the college. These courses consist of weekly lectures, assignments which are mailed to the college, and several visits to the college for testing.

Ken Bowers and James Yeingst discuss the special Elizabethtown College supplement to the Elizabethtown Chronicle during the Convocation Weekend.

MUSICAL

Concert Choir

THIS YEAR THE CONCERT CHOIR provided students and guests with a great stimulus for getting everyone into the holiday spirit by their contributions to the Christmas Concert. The Choir presented mostly sacred numbers in English and Latin and added even more spirit with We Wish You a Merry Christmas. This Concert served as a dry run before taping the program at WGAL-TV for presentation over the air on NBC's affiliated stations in the general area.

The selected voices of the Choir were directed by Professor David P. Willoughby while Miss Betty Myers provided the piano accompaniment. Clyde Kreider served as Choir President and Barry Graham acted as Choir Manager.

During the second semester the Concert Choir, besides participating in the Spring Concert, traveled throughout the area performing at high schools and churches.

The Concert Choir appeared at the Elizabethtown Church of the Brethren in April.

Chapel Choir

THE CHAPEL CHOIR provided anyone desirous of expressing himself through singing with an opportunity as it presented sacred selections at the Wednesday Chapel services. For the anthems during the Thursday Chapel services, the soloists were selected from the ranks of the Chapel Choir.

The group, whose members each received one credit hour for a year's performance, met once a week in BLR for its rehearsals with Dr. Carl N. Shull waving the baton. Gregory Bachman played a dual role, acting as Choir President and accompanying the Choir on the piano.

Members of the Chapel Choir rehearse for their role in Wednesday Chapel Services.

Woman's Chorus

The Women's Chorus practice blending voices and improving style for their performances in the Christmas and Spring Concerts

THE WOMEN'S CHORUS, which meets once a week, gives any interested coed the opportunity to express herself through music. The group presented both secular and sacred music while participating in various musical programs throughout the year. The sixty-six voices were directed by Professor William C. Bailey and accompanied on the piano by sophomore student Gregory Bachman. Selections from Ceremony of Carols by Benjamin Britten were featured by the Women's Chorus at the Christmas Concert while songs from Leonard Bernstein's West Side Story highlighted the chorus's performance at the Spring Concert.

Band

Professor David Willoughby directs the concert band during the May Day program.

ON JANUARY 18 the Elizabethtown College Concert Band, under the baton of Professor David P. Willoughby, presented the Winter Concert; when the lush breezes of spring ushered in the warm strains of the Spring Concert and the band's participation in the May Day program. It instilled school spirit on campus by performing at home soccer games and by providing a pep band for several home basketball games.

The Senate, composed of three officers and two Senators, acted as a sounding board where suggestions and opinions of band members were discussed. Gilbert Rinehart served as president.

The band continued to grow in size as is suggested by the purchase of a timpani, bass drum, and bassoon, the addition of chimes and a bass string. Winter Concert gave further evidence to the filling out which has been characteristic of the band.

Members of the Concert Band take time out during their performance in the Convocation program.

DRAMATIC

Sock and Buskin

SOCK AND BUSKIN is composed of students who have earned enough points as members of the Dramatic Workshop to qualify them for membership in this honorary club. This year Dave Ferrell, as student leader, and Mrs. Mildred H. Enterline, as the faculty advisor, led the group in the choosing, casting, and presenting of various plays throughout the year. Along with performances given at the high school, Sock and Buskin sponsored traveling religious plays, which were performed for various organizations and churches in the area.

The highlight of the year was the club's annual trip to New York City where members were able to see first-hand professional theatrics.

Sock and Buskin members discuss plans for presenting Enemy of the People; they are Stan Delp, Margorie Hollinger, Larry Sauder, Neil Cunningham, Diana Dibert, Dave Ferrell, Mary Ann Poljanec; (STANDING) Henry List, and Craig Lacov.

Dramatic Workshop

UNDER THE LEADERSHIP of faculty advisor Mrs. Mildred H. Enterline and sophomore student Craig Lacov, the Dramatic Workshop provided an outlet for those students interested in drama while earning credits for Sock and Buskin to display their talents in acting and backstage work and to acquaint them with procedures followed in dramatic productions at Elizabethtown College.

RELIGIOUS

Elizabethtown College Christian Association

E.C.C.A. (Elizabethtown College Christian Association) provides an ecumenical fellowship for Christian students through worship, group discussions, films, speakers and student participation programs such as the deputation program. At the request of various area churches, a small group of students visited and presented the worship services. Acting as the intercollegiate Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A. on campus, E.C.C.A. sent representatives to the state and regional conferences.

E.C.C.A. acts as the religious pivotal or keystone as it sponsors and encourages denominational church fellowship as part of campus life. All religious clubs are under the protecting wings of E.C.C.A.

Many activities for students are provided by E.C.C.A. On Monday through Thursday an evening meditation period is provided. Here one can "get away from it all" for a few minutes of quiet, restful music in Rider Chapel.

E.C.C.A. is also active with biweekly Wednesday meetings of special interest to students. Here one finds interesting and inspiring moments to enrich his daily college life. On December 4, the Reverend Stephens, pastor of the African Episcopal Methodist Church in Lancaster, presented a very challenging message on a current topic, "Integration and You."

A religious highlight for the year includes the sunrise Galilean Service held on Lake Placida on the last day of classes before spring vacation.

Dr. Carl Zeigler shares a jovial moment with Ruth Stehman, Ron Pierce, Judy Weiss, Jeanne Jacoby, and Clyde Kreider.

BSCM

The officers of BSCM hold a meeting to discuss future plans; they are Barry Shaffer, Ruth Stehman, and Jim Kipp.

MEMBERSHIP IN the Brethren Student Christian Movement (BSCM) is open to all Brethren students at Elizabethtown College. Striving for new members and for getting this year's ball rolling, BSCM gave a Halloween party at a nearby barn. With Dean Crill calling folk games, the crisp evening air was turned into warm fellowship.

Over Thanksgiving vacation fourteen club members and their advisor, Mr. Armon Snowden, drove to Manchester College in Indiana for the National BSCM Conference. Dr. Martin Marty of Chicago Theological Seminary delivered four lectures on the conference theme, "No Graven Images."

In April the organization held a "clean-up" weekend at Camp Swatara. While there, they swept cabins, raked leaves and planted trees.

The final activity of the year was held in May at the home of senior student Gerry Greiner. A hayride-ice cream party was the order of the day. Two hay wagons of students toured parts of Lancaster County seldom seen by average travelers.

LSA

STARTING THE ACADEMIC YEAR with a spaghetti dinner at the local Lutheran church, the members of L.S.A. were shown slides on Finland and Russia by the Rev. Raymond Fetter, who had recently returned from a trip abroad. The Lutherans meet monthly on campus to encourage members to attend church and to provide fellowship and better understanding among students.

Included in the year's events were a number of discussions running the gamut from the theological beliefs of college students to the racial situation and accruing tensions. The members of L.S.A. participated in two area conferences: one was at Buckhill Falls and the other was at Millersville State College where the theme was "Sex, Marriage, and Family—A Christian Perspective."

Eta Gamma Kappa

ETA GAMMA KAPPA was instituted for students who contemplate spending their lives in full-time church vocations. The more than twenty-five members of the club seek fellowship and communion among their fellow pre-ministerial students. The meetings are of a devotional and business nature with various speakers attending to lead discussions. Interested freshmen may attend the meetings, but cannot become members until invited to do so in their sophomore year. Visits to a Catholic cathedral, a Jewish synagogue, and a weekend retreat to Camp Swatara were a few activities conducted by Eta Gamma Kappa.

Deputation ministers review highlights of the year's events; they are Gerry Greiner, John Christman, Herbert Smith, and Kenneth Knosp.

Eta Phi Sigma

DEBATING

WITH PROFESSOR JOBIE E. RILEY acting as director, Eta Phi Sigma offers membership to all those interested in speech. One of Elizabethtown's smaller clubs, it encourages members interested in public speaking, oratory, extemporaneous speaking, and debate. The intercollegiate proposition debated this year was "The Federal Government Should Guarantee An Opportunity for Higher Education to the Qualified Student." Members, in addition to debating, often speak at meetings held by various organizations in the Elizabethtown area.

Nick Zabitchuck emphasizes a point while Jack Richard takes notes.

Jeanne Jacoby charms the judges into giving a favorable decision for her team.

Abraxes

As one of the more influential clubs on campus, the members of ABRAXAS gather after a meeting; they are (SEATED) Bob Kerr, Dave Brownback, Bob Hantz, Bill Bentz; (STANDING) Prof. Libhart, Herb Smith, Steve Keiser, Bill Brown, Bob Guthrie, Jay Lehman, and Prof. Armon Snowden.

DERIVING ITS NAME from the Greek word meaning power, the Abraxas recognizes junior and senior male students who have attained a high standard of leadership in collegiate activities and tries to encourage the members to maintain their course and be an incentive for others. New members are elected twice a year during one of the monthly meetings and remain as members during the rest of their college life.

As one of the youngest active clubs on campus—formed on March 1, 1962—the men's honor society has continually brought together members of the faculty and student body on a basis of mutual interest, understanding, and helpfulness.

CREATED FOR THE PURPOSE of orientating future teachers in their chosen vocation. Student PSEA, boasting a membership of over 250, held monthly meetings with visiting speakers or student teachers leading discussions ranging from teacher certification in the states of Pennsylvania and New York to the values of becoming a teacher.

Christmas caroling at the Crippled Children's Home and the making of small presents for these children were two activities enjoyed by members of the organization. The Student PSEA Southern Regional Meeting and the Student PSEA Conyention held at Dickinson and Marywood Colleges respectively were attended by officers and a group of members of the Elizabethtown H. K. Ober Chapter on campus.

Phi Beta Chi

PHI BETA CHI was organized for students interested in the physical sciences. The monthly meetings tend to broaden the members' understanding and knowledge of their chosen field by featuring discussions, films, and speakers from various branches of industry. Among the noteworthy speakers was Mr. James T. Bergen from the Armstrong Cork Company. The members represented Elizabethtown at the Tri-College Science Meeting, Franklin and Marshall and Lebanon Valley were the other two participating colleges. New to the college faculty and Phi Beta Chi is Dr. John R. Ranck, who led the group this year.

SAM

AT THE HELM of the Elizabethtown College Chapter of the Society for the Advancement of Management was senior student David Herbster and faculty advisor Richard T. Hise. Adhering to the club's purpose—to bring together executives in business with students preparing to go into all fields of business and to serve as an effective medium for the exchange and distribution of information on the problems, policies, and methods of industry and management.—Sam has gotten such outstanding speakers as Mr. Louis D. Gilbert to address the members. Mr. Gilbert is a nationally known investor and stockholder and for many years the champion of the small investor. On December 3 he gave a most interesting and informative, as well as thought-provoking, talk on "The Building of Corporate Democracy."

All interested students who have had at least one semester of accounting are eligible for membership. Besides having well-known speakers, the club strives to fulfill its purpose by taking field trips (i.e. Armstrong Cork Company in Lancaster) and having conferences and seminars with business executives.

Psychology Club

Members of the Psychology Club gather at the end of another meeting; they are Dennis Graybill, Linda Young, Gil Rinehart, Dr. David Lasky, Nina Stroble, and Gail Tice.

THE CONSTITUTION of the club states that its purpose is to advance the science of psychology and to encourage, stimulate, and maintain scholarship of the individual members in all fields, but particularly in psychology. Only those students who have completed an introductory course in psychology are eligible for membership. This year the club has cooperated with the Crippled Children's Hospital, where students can obtain on-the-spot experience. Guest speakers included Mr. Joseph Simonelli, a social worker from the Harrisburg State Hospital. Combination dinner-lecture meetings were held with schools such as Franklin and Marshall and Lebanon Valley. Visits to a veterans' hospital and the Cameron Estates were two of the Psychology Club's field trips.

POLITICAL

Young Democrats

The Young Democrats Club meets to discuss their part in the coming election; they are Ellen Hilkemeier, Judith Pressman, Olwyn Schwartz, Karl Botterbusch, and Don Eptine.

THE YOUNG DEMOCRATS CLUB, with approximately fifteen members, was designed for students who want to learn how their government operates on all levels in addition to a complete knowledge of the convictions of the Democratic Party. Prior to election week in November, the club's members distributed pamphlets in an extensive door-to-door campaign throughout Elizabethtown. Guest speakers are the mainstay of every meeting. Representatives from Elizabethtown College were present at the Young Democrats Convention held in Washington, D. C.

Young Republicans

WITH A MEMBERSHIP of approximately twenty, the Young Republicans Club endeavors to bring young people into the Republican party and to encourage the understanding of the philosophies of the party. Speakers such as Mr. Karl H. Purnell, the Union County Representative, are present at all meetings. Franklin and Marshall, Millersville, and Elizabethtown Colleges sent representatives to the Young Republicans' spring convention, which was held in Lancaster. Local, county, and state party business is discussed by the members of the club.

Political Science

Members of the Political Science Club gather at one of their semimonthly meetings. The officers in the front row are: Thomas Bradley (President), Lillian Harris (Secretary), Advisor Professor Nelson, Ed Holle (I.C.G. Chairman), and Ron Mitchell (Vice President).

BY JOINING the Political Science Club, students gain understanding of politics and processes of government. In order to stimulate the growth of American citizens, the members of this club develop their public speaking ability and take an active part in political movements on the campus and in society. All members of the club attended the State Intercollegiate Conference on Government held for two days in Harrisburg. This year Mr. William Bechtel from Lancaster, an alumnus of this college, spoke at the first meeting, relating his personal I.C.G. Convention experiences. Much work is done by the club on model bills to be taken to the I.C.G. Convention for debate and further action. A model political platform was the theme of this year's work.

Jack Richards and Ed Holle take part in debating a model political platform

Modern Language

THIS YEAR THE STUDENTS studying French, Spanish, and German have combined to form one club under the name of the Modern Languages Club. The different groups have joined with the idea that students should develop a better understanding of the culture and customs of the country whose language they are studying, as well as the customs of neighboring countries. This purpose is achieved by listening to language records and lectures, and by playing various games concerning the three different languages. At one of the early meetings of the school year, three Elizabethtown College students related their experiences while studying the language of France, Mexico, and Germany in those respective countries.

Members of the Modern Language Club demonstrate their various talents; they are (SEATED) Bob Herbert, Bob Wolf, Phyllis Lachman, Susan Hamm, Janet Risser, Virginia Rudy, Miss Grinbergs, Mrs. deVitry, Mrs. Herr; (STANDING) Bob Garrett, and Eileen Zingaro.

Circle K

The Circle K members are (SEATED) Richard Blass, Ken Myers, Hershey Bowers, Samuel R. Jones, Loren Nedrow, Wesley Leidig; (SECOND ROW) Walter Conrad, Clyde Kreider, Philip Bender, Robert Peel, David Patterson, Joseph Yarworth, Michael Wolpert, and Richard Becker.

NEWLY FORMED THIS YEAR. The Circle K Club is a service organization for college men. The club is affiliated with Kiwanis International and tries to adhere to the same motto, "We Build"—building for justice, liberty, democracy, and a better world in which to live. It is a leadership and character building group which serves the campus and the community. Circle K broadens the opportunities available to students through personal contact with business and professional leaders.

Striving to fulfill needs of the college and its students, the Circle K Club campaigned to promote flu shots on campus, helped register alumni on Winter Alumni Day, took charge of the concession stands at basketball games, and helped the cheerleaders by outfitting the Blue Jay mascot.

ATHLETIC

Varsity E

ACCORDING TO this year's club president Al Hershey, the club's purpose changed from fund raising to social fellowship. It is still an honorary club with membership open to anyone who has been awarded a varsity letter in any of the college's intermural sports. To emphasize its new purpose, the club had a kick-off picnic around the fireplace. Subsequent meetings included a panel discussion by three professional baseball players, films on topics from athletic injuries to improving your golf game with Arnold Palmer and Sam Snead.

Near the end of the first semester, the club members received their new Varsity E jackets. Two seniors, a man and a woman, were named the best athletes of the year, as second semester drew to a close.

Women's Athletic Association

NEWLY FORMED THIS YEAR, the council has eight members, each of whom represents one of the women's dorms or honor houses while one coed sits in for the commuters. The council has its origin in the Student Senate, and organizes all intramural activities such as bowling, swimming, and basketball for the women of Elizabethtown College. At the end of the year, a trophy is awarded to the dorm that has accumulated the greatest number of points in competition with other dorms.

Members of the Women's Athletic Council include (SEATED) Carolyn Moyer, Lewanna Brown, Eleanor Hall, Linda Hindmann; (STANDING) Phyllis Lachman, Kitty Shields, Barbara Trout, and Lynn Hindrickson

Blue Jay booters top Temple, 5-0

By MICK MAGUINNY

Elizabethtown's Blue Jays defeated Temple University's Quakers in a decisive 5-0 victory in the final game of the Middle Atlantic Championship soccer tournament. The game, played at the University of Maryland, saw the Jays dominate from start to finish, with goals scored in the first, second, and fourth quarters. The victory marks the second consecutive MAC title for the Jays.

SOCCKER

IN 1963 the Elizabethtown College soccer team again kept up its traditional record of being one of the finest small college soccer teams in the country. The Jays' season was highlighted by the winning of the Middle Atlantic Conference championship and placing second in the National Collegiate Athletic Association Tournament.

Throughout the regular season, the booters beat such formidable opponents as Gettysburg, Lycoming, Lock Haven, Susquehanna, St. Joseph, Drexel, Millersville, Moravian, East Stroudsburg and Wilkes. The Jays suffered one regular season loss at the hands of a talented West Chester squad, by a 2-0 count.

In post season play the soccermen posted a 2-1 slate. After winning the M. A. C. northern division, the Wrightmen met Temple University for the conference championship and blasted them by a 5-0 score. In the N.C.A.A. playoffs, Elizabethtown earned the right to meet the University of Baltimore by blasting Colby College five goals to none. After a long delay, the Jays went down at the hands of Baltimore by losing a heartbreaker, 1-2. However, this could not dull an already bright season.

The Wrightmen were led by All-American Al Hershey. Such all-conference players as Tony McGlaughlin, Frank Zimmerman and Ray Stern also played a prominent part in leading the Jays in an incomparable season. The fine footwork of Jeff Bensing also aided the Jays.

In the years to come, the 1963 soccer squad will be remembered as the team that displayed a great amount of zeal, fortitude and spirit. The unique skills of the squad, together with Elizabethtown determination, gave the booters an impressive season.

UNDER THE TUTELAGE of first yearman Coach Theodore Roscher, the Elizabethtown College cross country team completed a mediocre season with 3 wins and 9 losses. The Jays got off to a good start with a 20 to 37 victory over the Moravian Greyhounds. In this rout Al Owens and Bill Drean crossed the tape simultaneously to ice the meet for the Jays. The cross countrymen had visions of a great season when they decided the Albright Lions by a 24 to 32 win. After two opening victories the harriers were successful enough to come up with only one more victory over Muhlenberg.

However, there were some bright spots for a comparatively young squad. Al Owens, a sophomore, was brilliant throughout the campaign and crossed the finish line six times in the number one position. Sophomore Bill Reed and senior Willie Drean also made significant contributions to the Jay victories. The hard pushing Al Owens provided another bright spot for his team by setting the course record for an Elizabethtown runner. He crossed the tape in a fine 22 minutes and 44 seconds.

Having four sophomores and three freshmen, the squad showed much potential this year.

In an after season get together, this year's varsity field hockey team are (SEATED) Peggy Jackson, Molly Moore, Sylvia Ingham, Nina Stroble, Janet Esbenschade, Polly Provost; (STANDING) Linda

THE JAYGALS HIGHLIGHTED a successful 5-2-1 season by having four lassies named to the Central Penn All-Star field hockey squad. As a result of their fine performance in the Central Penn Tournament, Polly Provost and Louise Wenger were selected as second all-star team members. Janet Esbenschade and Susie Kurtz received honorable mention in the selections.

There were five seniors on the squad—Janet Esbenschade, Sylvia Ingham, Peggy Jackson, Phyllis Lachman and Molly Moore. All five Jaygals played important roles in the seasonal log.

Elizabethtown, under the leadership of Miss Ruth Nearing, opened the season by battling a strong East Stroudsburg team to a 2-2 deadlock. The team won its first game in their second outing by defeating Millersville 3-0. The Jaygals suffered their first conference setback to West Chester 3-2. The girls then rebounded by rolling up their highest point total for the season by defeating Moravian 11-1.

Fine ball control and team spirit contributed to the gals' winning season. The outlook for next year looks bright with twenty upperclass co-eds returning.

ADJECTIVES COULD NOT EXPRESS, well enough, the fine job turned in by the 1964 Elizabethtown College wrestling team. One who followed the team this past season saw a much improved team over the previous years. This team showed determination, and the will to win, which consequently led to the most successful season in the history of Elizabethtown grapplers as they tallied a 7-3-1 log.

In the scoring department the leaders were John Hertzler (5-0), Jerry Jackson (9-1-1), Dave Lomax (9-1-1), and team captain Gerry Greiner (9-2-0). Greiner and Jackson tied for the team leadership with 33 points each in 11 outings.

Post season tournament honors went to John Hertzler for his strong third place finish in the 157 pound division in the Middle Atlantic Conference tournament at Bucknell University. Dave Lomax, Bob Yunninger, Jerry Jackson, Garry Owen, and Gerry Greiner also participated in the tournament. Yunninger and Lomax advanced as far as the quarter finals.

Jerry Jackson and freshman Dave Lomax have been voted team co-captains for next year. The prospects are bright for the coming season.

Susanne Markey—Captain

Marilyn Fox gets loose with a two pointer.

OPENING THEIR SEASON by defeating Moravian, the courtsters, lead by captain Suzanne Markey, achieved their most successful season since 1957. The Jay dribblers finished with a 9-3 log.

The squad closed the season with three straight victories after losing two in a row in Virginia to Bridgewater and Madison. The Jaygals' greatest victory of the campaign came against Lock Haven. Outscored in each of the first three periods and trailing 40-29, the defense braced and the offense rallied to outscore the teachers 16-3 in the final stanza; the final score, 45-43.

Freshman Anna Marie Rodichok was the team's leading scorer with 203 points and a 16.9 average. Carolyn Moyer followed her with an 11.3 average.

Outlook for next year looks excellent with Suzanne Markey being the only senior.

AMAZING, UNBELIEVABLE, AND INVINCIBLE—these are just a few of the words that sum up Elizabethtown's phenomenal basketball team which reached unparalleled heights this year.

After getting off to a shaky start in the first part of the season, the chargers of Coach Donald Smith came to win 17 straight contests and earned the right to participate in the M.A.C. tournament at Bethlehem. En route to their first M.A.C. championship in the history of the college, the Jays were led by seniors John Neely, Bill Bechtold, and Jim Schlichter; juniors Dan Reitmyer, Larry Evans, and Larry Wyles; and freshman John Lentz.

The Jays earned the right to enter the National Collegiate Athletic Association regional playoffs by capturing the Middle Atlantic Conference crown in a four team playoff at Moravian College. That tourney saw E-town defeat Muhlenberg and Drexel, the Southern Division champ. A first place finish (13-1 record) in the Northern Division paved the way to the conference tournament.

In the first game of the M.A.C.'s, a second half comeback led by Larry Evans spelled the difference against Muhlenberg. The Jays had trailed by four points at halftime. A night later the Smithmen played consistent ball to drop the Drexel Dragons, who had upset Hofstra the night before. Reitmyer, Evans, and Bechtold paced the way with 15 points each.

In the opener of the N.C.A.A. at Hofstra, Long Island, the Jays faced a powerful Philadelphia Textile. They dropped behind by 13 points early, rallied to come within two by halftime after losing Bechtold as a result of a seven-stitch elbow gash above the eye, battled the Rams on even terms through the second half with the loss of Reitmyer spectacularly came into a four point deficit with 57 seconds left, and won by one point when Evans sank a driving layup at the three second mark. The next night Smith's dribblers met with defeat at the hands of Hofstra in a very close match. In the final count the Jays finished second place in the N.C.A.A. playoffs.

Members of the J-V basketball team take time out from a pre-game warm-up; they are Bill Gaskins, Bob Parson, Tim Ward, Corky McCray, Dick Rawle, and Coach Hedrick.

THE BLUE JAY'S OBJECTIVE this season is to better an 11-9 record and a third place finish in the Middle Atlantic-Northern Division Conference last year.

This is the chant of the 1964 Elizabethtown College baseball team as they take the field to try to bring home the third M.A.C. title for the 63-64 school year.

The men who will endeavor this feat, under the able leadership of Coach Owen L. Wright, include 12 veterans; Al Hershey and Keith Weiss, second basemen; Tony McGlaughlin and Berny Reimer, third basemen; Jeff Bensing, catcher; Tom Speakman, Ray Stern and Dave Myers, outfielders; Gene Marderness, Rich Wright, John Suffel and Ralph Wanamaker, pitchers.

Gone from last year's squad of regulars are: outfielder Fred Seltzer, leading hitter for the Jays at .385; Gerry Botdorf, catcher, who hit .323; first baseman, John Graham, defensive specialist; and outfielder Bob Deitrich, clutch hitter.

Highlighters of last year were: Fred Seltzer, .385 batting average; and Al Hershey batting .309 average and scoring 21 runs; Gene Marderness, who hurled 76 innings with a 1.78 earned run average.

There are a lot of if's involved with this year's team: if Hershey and McGlaughlin hit like they have in the past; if Suffel, Wright, and freshman Gary Bobson can back Marderness up on the mound; if some of the freshmen boys push the veterans; this could be one of the best teams in Elizabethtown's baseball history.

BASEBALL

berger, Dennis Shawver, Jim Youtz, Don Emenheiser, Dale Blouch, Bud Stotler, Gary Robinson, Ron Fisher, Corky Weiss, Tyke Wanamaker, and Managers Bruce Greenawalt and Richard Lindower.

Jeff Bensing is getting ready to make another putout.

John Suffel is pecking away at enemy pitching.

Tony McGlaughlin demonstrates the way to stay alive on the base paths.

Nice hit by Garry Messinger.

McGlaughlin waits for the throw to retire another Dickinson man.

This could mean extra bases.

Hershey hits a grounder for a base hit.

Will this be another strike?

Co-captains Al Hershey and Gene Maderness take time out from a pre-game warm-up

Members of the 1964 tennis team are (KNEELING) Jean Arnold, Sharyn Roney, Kim Romero, Sue Albright; (STANDING) Connie

Trask, Billie Kramer, Paula Yanick, Marilyn Fox, Anna Marie Rodichok, and Coach Allegra Hess.

WOMEN'S TENNIS

WITH A SEVEN GAME SLATE for the 1964 season, the women's tennis team will begin their season against Millersville on April 15.

Coach Allegra Hess will probably face the biggest problem of any spring sports team. Without a question this will be a building year for the team. There are six freshman girls on the team at the start of the season.

A Jaygal smashes the ball across the net.

THE 1964 SPRING SPORTS was officially opened at Elizabethtown College on April 4 when the men's tennis team met Washington. The outcome of the first game provided a 5-4 victory for the Jays.

As the season started, the netmen proved great potentiality for one of their most successful seasons to date. Four returning lettermen should provide the core of the team: they are Warren White, Gil Reinhart, Dan Reitmeyer, and Bill Bertolet. Chris Grubb, a freshman, should be a great asset to the Smithmen.

MEN'S TENNIS

CHEERLEADERS

LaVon Manning, Eileen Taylor, Rose Murry, Linda Hindman, and Louise Wenger.

Let's go big team.

Bonnie Hancher, captain of the cheerleaders, enthusiastically cheers the soccer team during the West Chester game.

Get out there and fight!

GOLF

GOLF HAS BECOME the tenth intercollegiate sport at Elizabethtown College. The Blue Jay linksmen played a five match exhibition schedule this year with Muhlenberg, and two games each with Hershey Junior College and Dickinson. These rehearsals were slated this spring as preparation for the opening of the College's first official golf season next year. The coach of the team is Theodore A. Roscher, athletic director.

All but the first Dickinson game were played on the Hershey Park Golf Course, the home links for the Jays as well as the Junior College crew. Sixteen students made up Roscher's squad this year.

The team has scheduled six matches to date for next year, and there is hope that two more will be added. The Hershey Park course will again be the home course for the Jays in 1965.

FRESHMEN

ON THE OVERCAST SUNDAY of September 15, 1963, 321 young men and women attended the Freshman Convocation in Baugher Student Center, stumbled through a foreign sounding Alma Mater, and filed out of the auditorium holding the title of Freshmen, Class of 1967.

The first uncomfortable week at "ole E. C." was full of get acquainted capers—a "Dinking Ceremony," name-recitation parties, a progressive hike, and a carwash. No freshman escaped the mass humiliations demanded by the upperclassmen. As part of traditional initiation period, Freshmen had to surrender to such insults as laboriously polishing the shoes of upperclassmen, buttoning dinks, carrying trays in the cafeteria, and detouring for Sacred Path signs.

Orientation to college life, other than the calm acceptance of insulting requests, included learning to tolerate a roommate's snoring, and, for commuters, learning how to zip in and out of the parking lots in a hurry.

Freshman night, better known as the Night of Kangaroo Court, found certain of our classmates executing odd tasks. A bonfire, into which the freshmen were permitted to toss their mammoth name signs, climaxed the evening's activities.

The tug-of-war the center of attraction on Homecoming Day as the freshmen boys completely out-muscled the sophomore boys, dampening the soph's spirits and pants. Ah, sweet revenge! No longer did the freshmen wear their dinks. Now they turned up bright-eyed for their 7:40's with neither strangling signs nor disheveled dinks.

Freshmen brains and brawn both made early appearances. The class was represented on cross country, soccer, and hockey teams. Proof of the general condition of literacy were Biology and "Intro to Ed" chapters that somehow got read, and letters that were hastily written to the homefolks when finances got low.

The proverbial "groove" that college students get into proved to be half filled with standard occurrences: 2 a.m. jam sessions, mile-long meal lines, and frequent retreats to the Jay's Nest. The bookstore, the mailboxes, the lounge in BSC—and for the really industrious freshmen, the library—soon became the comfortable hangouts.

At Christmastime some of the fellows went home with beards, the trademark of quite a few college men in 1963. The girls showed off dance programs and other college mementoes.

Contributing to winter and spring athletics in every field, the Class of 1967, proved to be a worthy addition to E'town's history. Not to be known solely for their athletes, though, the class also produced its share of Dean's List members and award winners.

As the college year draws to a close, the freshmen wear E.C. like a comfortable old shoe. It fits!

Helen Tvaroha, Earl Van Cleve, Dale Smith, Linda Ulrich, Joyce McConnel and Rich Denlinger take time from classes to pose for the Conestogan cameras by Gibble's columns.

Checking the time on the sundial in front of Gibble are James Hewlett, Linda Leffler, Carol Lee Zug, Sue Azar, Roy Folmer and Barbara Care.

With the side entrance of Gibble as a background, (Back) Linda Brown, Susan Sutton, Sarah Eshenour; (Front) Margaret Pries, Andrea Mininger and Helen Timberman smile for us.

Judy Metzgar, Tom Fridy, Nancy Harbach, Bob Herbert and Bill Toy found the lunch line too long so they are waiting outside.

Our camera caught Nancy Dehmey, Jacqueline Roush, Billie-Lynne Kramer, Tom Meckley and Darl Wilson on their way to class one day last autumn.

The red sandstone steps of Rider's main entrance provide a backdrop for Barbara Hopper, Paf Fitting, Linda Eckhardt, Kathleen Donaldson and Margaret Sims.

Freshmen

Carol Wilson, Robert Shoemaker, Janet Olson, Brenda Fox, Don Bosserman and Joyce Pugh share a few moments of laughter on a sunny afternoon.

Linda Gilbert, Dolores Hoopert, Don Myers and Bonnie Bishop enjoy a quiet moment in Alpha Lounge.

Class of 1967

Gathered around the piano in BSC are Lillian Whisler, Mike Leary, Wesley Freeburn and Bill Warner.

Judy Gible, Pat Masimore, Nick Zabirchuck and Rich Heisey are hunting for books to occupy all the leisure time freshmen have.

Diane Dubs and her three escorts—Bob Shireman, Sharpless Crowe and Tom Perkins—are just leaving the Jay's Nest.

Those combination locks can be stubborn, can't they? Linda Ayers is trying to open her mail box with Noel Hyde, Anna Marie Rodichok, Ed Ginder and Ron Hess looking on.

Pat Criswell, Jane Duloc, Alice Nagle, Ernest Kerstetter, Claire Crescenzi and Bob Tait are touring the campus near Rider.

Freshmen

Taking a break between classes are Martha Batchelor, Linda Dougherty, Carol Troxell, Ethel Clover and James Nesspor.

Waiting for some information at the Control Center in BSC are Harrison Ziegler, Diana Miller, Leon Myers, John Menges and Virginia Reinecker.

Enjoying a few moments away from their books are Rosemarie Meyers, Barbara McDannel, Mary Jane Kratzer, Peggy Johnson, Sara White and Alice Irwin.

Class of 1967

On a crisp, sunny day Gary Danielson, Pat Moffitt, Jim Reichley, Carol Wraith, John Ober and Carol Clever seem especially happy.

Lynne Dager, Candy Dickson, Judith Harrington, Marty Evans, Susan Groshens and Mary Ann Holsinger smile with relief after their first exposure to freshman tests.

Surrounded by the wrought iron railing of Ober Hall are Kathryn Wortman, Tom Kile, Earl Schmuckle, Ken Miller and Barry Young.

The outdoor bulletin board is the center attraction for Dane Grove, John Whipple, Doris Sheibey, Mary Ellen Matthias, Sharyn Roney, Janet Brumbaugh and Ellen Brumbaugh.

Harry Bauerle, Tim Waud, Fred Herr, Tom Wetzel and Tom Talley get together on the steps of Ober Hall to discuss all those freshmen girls.

Another of those after-class discussions in which freshman learn from each other what courses and professors are like. Stauffer Reifseneider, Al Mathis, Bruce Greenawalt, Bill Hamilton, Dave Unangst and Bill Zimmerman make comparisons.

Freshmen

The portrait of Henry K. Ober provides a background for David Decker, James Wetzel, Ed Ward, Fred Beck and Dick Nussey.

Pleasant September days provide an opportunity for step-sitting by Don Carpenter, Janet Adams, Sally Schermerhorn, Laura Giles and Ken Paytos.

Class of 1967

Another lineup, this time on the steps of Myer Hall. These happy freshmen are David Lomax, Susan Hoover, John Gwilliam, Margaret Blankenhorn, Dorothy Frantz and Marsha Ann Fisher.

Don Puchaty, Gary Wildasin, Fred Orth, Jereth Keller, Jean Trego, and Alex Mullin discuss freshmen orientation.

Freshmen

Just what we like, freshmen who read last year's Conestogan. This group includes Jim Martin, Jeanne Cranks, Don Epstein, Virginia Fulmer and Virginia Schaefer.

Joyce Knox, Sara Kaufman, Nancy Meyer and Jim Lorscheid stop by the trophy case in BSC to see what our athletic highlights are.

SETTLING DOWN to the normal procedures and activities of campus life, the freshmen soon became accustomed to 7:40 classes, scribbled lecture notes, learning to concentrate amid mass confusion, comprehending the valuable lesson of sharing rooms and possessions, and the art of budgeting time to allow moments for both studying and fun.

Each day brought new experiences and new encounters. Eagerly the class of 1967 watched the days speed by as the approaching Homecoming Day and the annual tug-of-war between the freshmen and sophomores had arrived.

James Darnell and Marian Shaull keep score, Holly Owens and George Simister look on as Dorothy Burkholder bowls.

It is picnic time in front of the library for Sue Macdonald, Sue Kurtz, Beverly Smeltz and Carol Hamilton.

Class of 1967

AS THE YEAR PROGRESSED, the freshmen saw new faces and made new friends. They were now accepted as "one of the boys."

First semester ended and second semester was upon us almost before we expected it. This meant, first of all, the Freshmen-Shophomore Dance, then the election of class officers and the May Court representatives, more studying, finals, and the end of our freshman year at Elizabethtown.

Altogether we, the class of 1967, feel that our first year of college has been a rich and rewarding experience. We are looking forward to equally successful future years.

Rich Coyle, George Harris, Jimmie Soles, Carroll Bossert and John Fry are catching up on the latest world news.

Gosh, these frosh have lots of free time. Here Penny Eckhardt, Aaron Hostetter, Frances Kieffer and John Habecker are playing shuffle board in the BSC game room.

Clarence Stotler and Linda Schaeffer walk past as Barbara Thomas and Garry Gault talk to a friend.

Kathleen Miller, John Long, Elizabeth Morrison and Ray Hollinger examine the portrait of the late Dr. A. C. Baugher

Freshmen

Tom Pontz's Austin Healy seems to have attracted a crowd—Linda Schnelle, Tom Welles, Donna Tuzik and Marilyn Johnson. The girl beside Tom is Kim Romero.

It is family portrait time for Dennis Shawver, Gene Hillegas, Denny Moore and Carol Formwalt.

Is Gerald Bayer pointing an accusing finger at James Heikes? Not with those smiles on Bob Hess, Sally Toscan, Jeanne Walker and Jerome Waler.

Something is funny—maybe those reproductions in the background. The laughers are Ed Hartzell, Barb Linski and Dick Neff.

Taking time out for a friendly chat are Donna Ward, Jon Donaldson, Paula Nickey and Carol Sieber.

Class of 1967

Terry Allison, Kyoko Utsumi, Corky McCray, Joe Habecker and Sue Albright are catching a quick snack in the Jay's Nest.

A sudden streak of generosity by Glen Groff has whetted the appetites of Virginia Wise, Gail Wagner and Linda Leader.

Just a friendly game of ping pong. The players are Jean Rice and John Cassell helped by verbal enthusiasm from Terry Fake and Mary Ann Shugarts.

Waiting behind Myer Hall for the lunch bell to ring are Jim Bomberger, Bill Selcher, Nancy Keller, Marcia Heimbach and Doris Mohn.

Freshmen

Should Ober Hall be a co-ed dorm? This is the topic under discussion by Terry Wambaugh, John Klopp, Don Emenheiser, Judy Buckwalter, Betty Fry, Joan Kraybill and Bill Hughes.

Now isn't this a representative group of Elizabethtown College students—Nobel Johnson, Jay Linard, Carole Bowser, Carol Mainwaring, David Rosenberg and Ben Kocher.

Four smiling freshmen—Linda Piperno, Carol Randen, Judy Bernhart and Leslie Blomquist take time out from their conversation to pose for our camera.

Class of 1967

With the portrait of Mary B. Myer in the distance, Chris Wagner, Ginny Haskett, Sue Lau, Marian Musser, Hermione Jackson and Shirley Shope discuss the problems of being a freshman.

Playing a new version of solitaire are Dick Tait, Judy Elierly, Gayle Pierce, Sandy Coppoch and Larry Ream.

Barbara Langhans seems to be the only one with books. The others in Alpha Lounge are Claudia Foulke, Carole Myers, James Swiegart and Bob Parson.

SOPHOMORES

SOPHOMORE—a word feared by freshmen, looked down upon by juniors, and simply ignored by seniors. To the class of 1966 it has a deep and reverent meaning. It represents our second year at Elizabethtown packed full of good times along with hard work. For most of us it was the hardest year, the year we learned what it was to be challenged. By the sophomore year we were hardened to the familiar routine of "lecture, cram, tests, forget." Textbooks, blue-books, "unknowns," and term papers had become the mainstay of our lives. The No-Doze industry hit an all time high during final exams. We were spending long hours in the laboratories, completing accounting practice sets, or learning the methods for teaching music and art in public schools.

On the shores of Lake Placida during Homecoming Day, the upperclassmen, cheered on by the sophomore "Pirates," easily won the pie-eating contest. However, frosh determination proved too much for the sophomores; and the underclassmen won the watermelon race and the tug-of-war. Janice Foote and Louise Wenger represented our class on the Homecoming court.

Many of us were active in campus organizations and activities. Linda Hirst was our representative on the Committee on Women's Affairs. Dramatic Workshop's co-chairmen were Donald Fitz and Creg Lacov. On the political scene, Carol Jean Stricker was corresponding secretary in the Young Republican Club. James Kipp and Creg Hauseman were committee chairmen on the Student Center Board. Also, other class members actively participated in many campus activities.

We took part in publications, cheerleading, and sports. Several members served as reporters for the Etownian and held key positions on the Conestogan staff. Our athletes excelled in all sports.

We emerge from the experiences and events of another college year more mature and confident but already looking to the future with its challenges and opportunities.

JUNIORS

EVERY YEAR as we progress through our college career, we find that the class of 1965 becomes smaller. Last spring several of our girls were graduated in the medical secretary course. And some of our members, having completed two years here, are now attending nurses' training schools.

We also miss those who are studying abroad. This year the junior class is spread all over the globe, and we are eager to have them back again. Through them we can gain insight into other cultures and philosophies. Judith Ullery is spending this year studying in Tokyo, Japan. Most of our exchange students are on the other side of the globe—in Europe. Phill Bufithis is spending the year at the University of Nottingham in England—in the heart of the Robon Hood country. At the University of Strasbourg in France are Liz Hershberger and Ken Smith. The largest number of students is centered at the University of Marburg in Germany, where they are studying in the Brethren College Abroad Program under the direction of Dr. Robert A. Byerly. This group includes Bill Cave, Kent Douple Dorothy Hess, Ruth Gebhard, Roy Schoemberger, and Bill Smock.

On our own continent, but still far from us, are two co-eds. Terry Road is studying at Mexico City College, and Anne Fleming is spending her second semester at the Merrill-Palmer Institute in Detroit, Michigan.

While some are spending this year abroad, others are faring quite successfully here. Representing the class in the Student Senate are Mary Jo McConnel, Carolyn Moyer, Bob Guthrie, John Eshleman, and Warren White. Louise Brown and Suzy Deitrich represented us on the Homecoming Court.

We are really proud of our athletes this year, and we know they were the mainstays of our teams. Dan Reitmeyer, Larry Evans, and Larry Wyles led our basketball team to the Middle Atlantic Conference championship for the first time in the college history. Sharon Sullivan and Jane Moyer were our vivacious cheerleaders who helped lead our boys to victory.

Our soccer men were just as successful, bringing home the MAC championship, and adding another laurel to our trophy case. Excelling in this sport were our prize booters—Tony McGlaughlin, Henry Pownall, David Myers, John Suffel, and Tom Speakman.

Of course, our greatest pride is in those who prove their success in college in the academic field. Several of our girls were invited to join the women's honor society, Sigma Lambda Sigma. They were Carol Gould, Jane Idell, Martha Laudermilch, Connie Nessley, Linda, Stehman, Sharon Sullivan, and Arline Thomas.

Class members were quite active as presidents of clubs and organizations. In addition to having seven members as co-chairman of the Student Center Board, the class can boast the presidency of two clubs.

Seniors

GRADUATION IS HERE! Welcome to the Elizabethtown College Alumni Association! This invitation is for us, seniors. Our four years at good ole' E-Town come to a close while the doors to our careers open.

As we went through our last registration line, we couldn't help but remember the other registration lines and all the memories we have about our classes, sports, and social events. We pass a lingering glance over our past here.

Remember the gab sessions in the dorms and honor houses? Remember the big dances and the college parties? Did you buy anything at the college auction? (According to Prof. Dwyer, the undergrads will have another chance next year to buy a beard.) Remember the long hours of studying before last minute exams? Or was it last minute studying before long exams?

Our prestige as a class grew as the years passed. Our class provided many student leaders—President Joe Eshleman, Secretary Bonnie Ginter, Treasurer

Jack Neibert, and Senators Gerald Greiner, Dennis Hartenstine, and Tom Simpers in the Student Senate; Chairman Linda Young of the Committee on Women's Affairs, and Chairman Jeffrey Bensing of the Committee on Men's Affairs.

Our senior class was led by William Bentz, president, Philip Bender, vice president; Esther Strehle, secretary, Mary Jane Moore, treasurer.

Other members of our class were leaders in campus publications and organizations. Editors of the publications were Edward Holle, Conestogan; Edward Worden, Etownian, Anne Makowiak, ELM.

Presidents of clubs included Dave Ferrell, Sock and Buskin, Anne Makowiak, Student P.S.E.A., Al Hershey, Varsity E, Mary Ann Poljanec, Sigma Lambda Sigma, Scott Swank, Abraxas, Thomas Pinnel, Eta Gamma Kappa, Robert Kerr, Phi Beta Chi; Gertrude Miller, Eta Phi Sigma. Janet Jones represented our class in the exchange program in France.

Our class also provided outstanding athletes in the various sports. Janet Espenshade, Sylvia Ingham, and Mary Jane Moore did a fine job on the hockey team. Susanne Markey was tops in girls' basketball while Gerry Greiner was tops in wrestling. The cheerleaders from our class were Bonnie Hancher, Rose Murray, and Sue Wade.

Jeff Bensing, Jay Lehman, Dave Merkel, Ray Stern, and Frank Zimmerman had a good soccer year. Al Hershey was named All American and also a member of the first team in the MAC soccer tournament. Bill Bechtold, John Neeley, and Jim Schlichter helped bring our basketball team into the MAC and NCAA basketball tournaments.

Some of our beauties represented us in the Homecoming Court while our Esther Strehle reigned as queen. The senior members in the court were Janice Cramer and Sue Wade. Janice Cramer was May Queen and Carole Glynn, Esther Strehle, Lynne Benham, and Carolyn Moyer were senior members in her court.

After student teaching, Graduate Record Exams, applications for graduate school and jobs, we attended our Senior Dinner Dance at Holiday West and then after our Baccalaureate, we received our college diplomas. The long last lap has come to an end. Welcome to the Elizabethtown College Alumni Association!
